

First-time buyers would have saved 20 per cent

STARTER HOME SCHEME IS AXED

Report by Richard Guttridge

A £9.8 MILLION council starter home scheme, which was set to help young people in Dudley onto the housing ladder, has been scrapped.

Dudley Council has blamed the Government for the collapse of the programme, which aimed to create cheaper housing on the sites of former council buildings.

A total of 62 starter homes were going to be made available as part of a scheme to build on the sites of the former Mere Centre in Stourbridge, Ambecote House care home in Brettell Lane, Turner House in Wren's Nest and the old St Thomas' Network in Beechwood Road.

Bosses say the 'required legislation' for the scheme has not yet been passed by the Government and the homes will instead be sold at market value.

The plan had been hailed by council leader Councillor Patrick Harley when it was announced last year, who said the authority had 'seized the opportunity' to support people who want to buy their first home but are forced out of the market due to high prices. First-time buyers aged 24 to 39 would have saved 20 per cent on the value of a house under the scheme.

Affordable

Council chiefs said as the scheme had not been brought in by Parliament, and was unlikely to any time soon, the Dudley scheme could not go ahead.

Dudley Council was given £625,000 from the Homes and Communities Agency, which launched the starter homes initiative, to demolish the buildings and build the homes.

Bosses say homes will still be built, of which 25 per cent will be 'affordable' in order to comply with current planning conditions. A total of 59 homes will be sold at market value and 20 affordable properties made available for rent.

Councillor Laura Taylor, cabinet member for housing, said: "This decision refines what we had originally planned. We will build on the experience we have gained in recent years from developing quality council homes. We are confident we can deliver the homes that people want at affordable prices."

OH SHE DO LIKE TO BE BESIDE THE ZOOSIDE

Bucket and spade weather? Doreen Tipton unveils the new beach, Ow Bin Ya' Sands, which is at Dudley Zoo all summer

POPULAR Black Country character Doreen Tipton launched the bostin' new beach at Dudley Zoo – just in time for one of the wettest Spring Bank Holiday weekends for years.

However, there were high hopes that rising temperatures following the weekend's thunder storms and downpours would see the site getting plenty of use in the sunshine – although the half-term forecast remains mixed.

Doreen Tipton officially opened the 50ft by 30ft beach, Ow Bin Ya Sands, which will be in place throughout the summer.

Complete with 80 tonnes of sand, piles of buckets and spades, two giant deckchairs and plenty of picnic tables, the beach has been created near the sensory garden, just below the castle.

Seaside-style children's entertainment will also be held at the Castle Hill attraction's summer beach. They have even got special edition Ow Bin Ya Sands rock for sale.

WEATHER

Flood tragedy after region hit by deluge

THE Black Country and Birmingham were hit by freak floods that caused havoc over the Bank Holiday weekend.

The region is continuing to count the cost of the flash flooding, which saw a month's rainfall in just one hour in Edgbaston.

An elderly man died in the floods in Walsall when his van was caught in water under a bridge.

Water was waist-deep in parts of south Birmingham and one route impassable due to water five feet deep. Tipton was also hit by a deluge.

HEALTH

A&E team helps to cut pressures

A SOCIAL care team based in A&E is helping ease the pressure on hospital services, figures have revealed.

In September last year, Dudley Council set up a new emergency response team to work in the A&E at Russells Hall Hospital. It is one of a raft of measures introduced since the Government awarded the authority £13.9 million as part of the national £2 billion Improved Better Care Fund last year.

FOOTBALL

Historic Albion medal up for sale

A PIECE of West Bromwich Albion history is going under the hammer at Dudley auctioneers Aston's on Thursday, June 7.

It is the Football League Champions 1919-20 winner's gold medal that belonged to Joe Smith, who played nearly 500 games for the Baggies and Birmingham City, and won two England caps. When a similar medal that belonged to skipper Jesse Pennington came up for auction last year it fetched £24,000.

Drive-by shooting killer jailed for life

Killer Danielle Williams

A MAN from Dudley has been jailed for life after gunning down an innocent bystander in a drive-by shooting.

Danielle Williams, aged 23, of Attingham Drive, opened fire with a sub-machine gun from a silver Volkswagen Golf outside a shop in Birmingham.

Victim Mekel Sterling found himself in the 'wrong place at the wrong time', Birmingham Crown Court heard.

Mr Sterling, known locally as Skelly, was outside the shop on Great Hampton Row when shots were fired. He is not thought to have been the target.

He was struck in the chest and staggered into the store for help but the 36-year-old father could not be saved and died in hospital.

The shooting is thought to have been a revenge attack after shots were fired at a group of men from a Ford Kuga outside a fast food restaurant on Dudley Road the day before.

Driver

Williams was jailed for at least 33 years, along with driver Kayne Robinson, of Roseberry Street, Winslow Green, after both were found guilty of murder. Detective Chief Inspector Edward Foster, from West Midlands Police's Homicide Unit, said: "Sadly Mekel found himself caught up in something not of his own making and paid the ultimate price. He will not see his children grow into adulthood."

Jacob Brown, 25 from Handsworth, was cleared. Jurors were unable to reach verdicts on murder charges facing Devonte May, 24 from Handsworth and 19-year-old Geary Barnett, from Winslow Green. They pleaded not guilty to murder but guilty to assisting an offender. They were jailed for three years and two-and-a-half years respectively.

College chosen for new T-level courses

DUDLEY College of Technology will be one of the first in the UK to introduce the new T-level exam courses.

The college on The Broadway is among four schools and colleges in the Black Country to have been named as the first T-level providers.

The courses are dubbed the greatest shake-up of technical education for 70 years. The T-levels are technical qualifications at A-level standard. The course content will be created by panels of employers with a three-month compulsory industry placements.

The T-levels, which are technical qualifications at A-level standard, will be taught at Dudley College of Technology, Sandwell Academy, Walsall College and Walsall Studio School.

They are among just 10 further education providers across the Midlands chosen to take part in the scheme. Across the country, 52 schools and colleges have been named as the first T-level providers.

The first three subjects will be construction, digital, and education and childcare, which will be taught from September 2020.

Engineering

A further 22 courses being rolled out in stages from 2021, with courses covering sectors such as finance and accounting, engineering and manufacturing, and creative and design.

Neil Thomas, principal of Dudley College of Technology said: "We are excited about the impact that T-levels will have in the future."

"Colleges have an important role to play in supporting the productivity of the regions they serve by providing the technically skilled workforce needed by local employers."

"We look forward to working with partners to introduce these qualifications and further strengthen the links between education and industry."

Fizzogs pucker up for day centre visit

A cuppa and a kiss – The Fizzogs with Terry Johnson at the Brett Young Dementia Gateway

DUDLEY'S Dancing Grannies popped into a day care centre for a cuppa and a little boogie to mark national Dementia Action Week.

Internet sensations the Fizzogs performed for people with dementia and their carers, friends and families at the Dudley Council-run Brett Young Dementia Gateway in Old Hawne Lane, Halesowen. The trio danced their way around the centre, sharing laughter with those they met. Their performance was one of a number of activities to celebrate the national campaign.

Other activities include a tea party, an Elvis Presley tribute, musical mobility and flower arranging.

Councillor Nicolas Barlow, member for adult social care, said: "People with dementia responded really well to the entertainment and many were up dancing."

Dudley Council runs dementia gateways at the Brett Young Centre and the Crystal Gateway in Brierley Hill.

'Ghost shift' fraud cost NHS more than £70k

A HEALTH worker involved in a plot that defrauded the National Health Service (NHS) out out nearly £73,000 has been jailed.

Rilindis Bessem, of Brettal Lane, Brierley Hill, was persuaded by Charles Elad, of Westwood Close, Milton Keynes, to join his 'ghost shifts' fraud.

Bessem was among four agency workers who submitted fraudulent timesheets to a recruitment agency, which was unaware of the fraud. The workers were paid for the unworked shift and the agency then unknowingly invoiced the various trusts for the shifts.

Elad, aged 46, was working as a recruitment officer for ID Medical at the time. Each of the five workers was convicted of separate fraud conspiracies with Elad. His wife, Tanyl Elad, was convicted of a money laundering offence after her bank account was used.

The total loss to the NHS was £72,991.11, and various NHS hospitals in England were targeted, including Royal Shrewsbury Hospital, Scunthorpe General, Royal Blackburn, and Darlington.

Hide

Once an agency worker had been paid for the 'ghost shifts', Elad would then request they make a payment to him, using his wife's bank account to hide the transactions.

Bessem, 39, who had denied one count of conspiracy to commit fraud by false representation, was convicted by jury and received a six-month prison sentence. Elad received three years' imprisonment. He had denied five counts of conspiracy to commit fraud by false representation and one count of fraud. He was convicted of four counts of conspiracy to commit fraud and one count of fraud.

Tanyl Esekang Elad, 38, denied converting criminal property but was convicted by the jury. She received a four month prison sentence, suspended for two years.

They were all sentenced at Kingston-upon-Hull Crown Court on May 18.

The NHS Counter Fraud Authority will now continue under the Proceeds of Crime Act to recover the money lost to the NHS.

Convicted paedophile imam still on the run

A PAEDOPHILE religious leader who evaded justice by telling lies about his health and fleeing to Bangladesh during his trial is still wanted by police, more than 18 months after absconding.

Hafiz Rahman, who preyed on two young girls at a Black Country mosque in the 1980s, fled after claiming he was to ill to attend court.

Rahman, of Ballard Road, Nether-ton, was found guilty of five charges of indecent assault in October 2016.

He was sentenced to 11-and-a-half years in prison in his absence but by then had boarded a flight to Bangla-desh.

He was the imam at Queens Cross mosque in Cradley Heath and was convicted of historic crimes against the girls, who he was supposed to be giving religious instruction.

Hopes of his capture were raised last year when files were passed to ex-tradition experts but a West Midlands Police spokesman confirmed that he is still wanted almost 20 months after his escape.

A spokesman for the police force, said: "Inquiries are still on-going - he's still wanted."

One of his victims has said that she believes he may never be brought to justice. Of the court case and conviction, she said: "It was a bittersweet victory. Others now know what he was doing but I haven't got closure."

Drug crook fails to get jail term cut

A DRUG dealer from Dudley who was involved in a £1.5 million cocaine and heroin plot has failed to get his jail term cut on appeal.

Lea Gavin Brown, 32, of Tanfield Avenue, Blowers Green, was jailed for 16 years on November 10. Brown's catalogue of crime began in 2014 when found with crack cocaine and cannabis. In 2016 he was spotted parked near a school and hit a police vehicle as he sped away. Brown was last year convicted of conspiracy to supply cocaine and heroin. Lawyers argued his sentence was too tough but Judge Anuja Dhir, sitting with two other judges, dismissed the appeal saying: "The judge was obliged to impose a total sentence which reflected all of Brown's offending."

Home plan at pub

FORMER pub the Plough Inn, in Church Street, Brierley Hill could be transformed into a six-bed, multiple occupancy with associated amenity facilities, under new plans submitted to Dudley Council.

Help for family who lost everything in fire

Just the walls remain. Picture: @StaffsFire

A FAMILY who lost everything when their house burned down say they are 'overwhelmed' with the generosity of neighbours and friends.

The 'shell' of a home and two charred cars is all that remains of a family-of-five's possessions. But just two days on from the fire at Huntsmans Walk in Kinver, neighbours and friends have rallied round to raise more than £1,200 for the family.

Since the incident shortly after midnight on Thursday, several organisations started fundraising for Michelle Goodwin, aged 43, Stuart Jones, 50, and their three children, Kian, 14, Anece, 13, and Zak, nine.

More than £1,200 has been raised by Harleys Smokehouse Barbecue Restaurant in Dunsley Road, Kinver, along with an undisclosed amount from the family's local post office, Potter's Cross Stores in White Hill.

Miss Goodwin said: "We are still in shock. It is crazy knowing that you will not be able to go back home and that everything you had is lost."

"There have been donations here, there and everywhere. I was too exhausted to look at Facebook but my friends have told me about the amount of people who have set up fundraising pages and given their money to help us.

"The post office have got lots of clothes and money for us plus my son's friend has given him clothes and £200. I am absolutely overwhelmed."

Due to the extent of the damage investigators have not been able to establish an exact cause of the fire but the family believe it was an electrical fault in their sauna.

The ruins of the house are to be demolished.

Camera vans catching hundreds of speeders

MOBILE speed cameras caught almost 1,500 motorists in Dudley in the last year.

Marked enforcement vans recorded speeding drivers at 14 locations. In total, 1,486 tickets were issued in 2017.

It comes five years after all static 'housed' speed cameras were turned off.

Most tickets were issued on the A4123 Birmingham New Road, between the Burnt Tree Island and Tipton Road, where 245 motorists were caught on the northbound and 25 on the southbound.

That stretch of road is in Castle and Priory ward. Councillor Ken Finch, a representative of that ward on Dudley Council, said: "I support the use of anything that could save lives on our roads. Unfortunately in my ward we are burdened with the Birmingham New Road and Priory Road. Both are used as a race track by some drivers. I hope the cameras catching people will slow them down."

On Oakham Road in Kates Hill, Dudley, 163 motorists were caught, and on the A449 Kidderminster Road in Kingswinford, 157. This was followed by 147 on St Peter's Road in Netherton, 143 on the B4043 Manor Lane in Halesowen and 137 on the A458 Halesowen Road, also in Halesowen, near Narrow Lane.

Fine

In Saltwells Road in Netherton, 133 drivers were caught, in Milking Bank, Dudley, 91, the A461 Stourbridge Road in Brierley Hill, near Terrace Street, 65, and on Spies Lane in Halesowen, between Kent Road and Ridgeway Avenue, 63.

On the A457 Tipton Road in Sedgley, between Gate Street and Park Road, 52 were caught, on the A456 Manor Way in Halesowen between Grange Road Island and Sandvik Engineering, 42 were snared and in Bourne Street in Dudley, 23.

Drivers receive a minimum fine of £100 and three penalty points if caught speeding. West Midlands Police use 160 mobile camera sites and talks are now under way over bringing in average speed cameras in the Black Country.

Man dies as region hit by floods

Floodwaters rise to threaten a shop in Toll End Road in Tipton. Picture:@kennettphoto

A MAN died after his van was swamped by water following flash flooding across the Black Country.

The tragedy occurred amid torrential downpours that swept across the region over the Bank Holiday weekend.

Police confirmed a motorist in his 80s had died in the early hours of Monday in Lichfield Road, Rushall. A resident and council worker had desperately tried to rescue the man, diving into floodwater at around 2am and trying to break the van window.

However, the man was taken to hospital and pronounced dead a short time later.

Routes by Birchley Island in Oldbury saw major disruption, including on Wolverhampton Road in both directions. Floodwater swamped routes in Tipton, including Walker Street and Toll End Road and Birmingham was badly hit, including parts of Harborne and Edgbaston.

NEWS IN BRIEF

High-rise blocks safe says council

DUDLEY Council's housing chief has confirmed no high-rise blocks in the borough will need altering in the wake of the Grenfell Tower disaster, which claimed 72 lives. The Government has pledged £400 million to help remove dangerous cladding.

Councillor Laura Taylor, cabinet member for housing, said: "We do not have cladding on any of our 21 high-rise blocks, and as such we have no need to apply as a council for cash from this new Government fund. We have been working with the fire service to complete fire audits on all of our blocks, and carry out regular technical checks."

Crews fight major blaze at scrapyard

FIFTEEN firefighters helped tackle a major fire at a scrapyard in the Black Country.

Crews from Dudley, Brierley Hill and Tipton were called to the scrap metal blaze in Oak Lane, Kingswinford. The incident occurred at around 5.30pm on Wednesday (May 23) and was tackled by fire crews using hose reels and a main jet. It took around three hours for the crews to bring the blaze under control.

A West Midlands Fire Service spokesman said: "It appears to have been accidental."

Dancing pupils helped hospice

YOUNGSTERS from a school have raised more than £7,000 for Mary Stevens Hospice through a danceathon.

Pupils and staff at Peter's Hill Primary, in Brierley Hill, held an all-day danceathon to celebrate International Dance Day, which was created to bring people together across cultural, political and ethnic barriers.

The £7,200 raised during the event is enough to pay for Mary Stevens Hospice to run for a whole day, covering everything from tea bags to their 22 charity shops across the West Midlands

11pc of weapons crime ends in jail

CRIMINALS in the West Midlands convicted for weapons possession were more likely to be given a community order than a prison sentence of more than a year, new figures show. According to the Ministry of Justice, 91 out of the 799 of people convicted for possession of guns or knives across the region last year were handed jail time of 12 months or more.

While this represents only 11 per cent of those convicted, over the same period 235 offenders (30 per cent) were given community orders.

Just 35 criminals caught with weapons (four per cent) were jailed for four years or more.

Severn Trent to invest £100m

WATER company Severn Trent, which serves millions of customers across the Midlands, has unveiled a £100 million investment drive.

It comes as the business confirmed its turnover for the year to March 31, increased to £1.69 billion, up from £1.63bn in 2017, while pre-tax profits also rose from £520.1m to £541m.

The firm said that the £100m investment, which has been generated from savings, would go towards a number of initiatives. This includes 20,000 extra pressure monitors in its network of pipes, which means that leaks and bursts can be spotted more quickly.

Contactless paying is proving popular

THE West Midlands has the joint highest level of banking customers with a contactless card. A study from UK Finance, the trade body representing the banking sector, put it at 81 per cent, level with the North East.

Almost two-thirds (64 per cent) of banking customers in the region regularly use their card to make contactless payments – the highest proportion in the country. UK Finance looked at how technology and innovation are transforming retail banking.

Knitted poppies to cascade at a farm

A CASCADE of knitted poppies is planned at a country park to mark the 100th anniversary of the end of the First World War.

The aim at Northcote Farm in Wolverhampton, is to have the display of red woollen poppies on display in time for the summer solstice on June 21. Poppies can be handed in to the Friends of Northcote base at Underhill Lane or to the farm manager.

Police called to jobs up to 12 times a day

POLICE are being called out up to 12 times a day to deal with jobs and other anti-social behaviour in Dudley.

There were 9,000 cases of anti-social behaviour in Dudley in just two years – an incident every two hours.

Council bosses have now hit out at the nuisance behaviour, which they said puts an added strain on already stretched police resources.

Data obtained through a Freedom of Information request to West Midlands Police showed 4,701 incidents of anti-social behaviour were reported in 2015/16, while 4,359 were reported in 2016/17.

The data revealed incidents spiked between the hours of 4pm and 8am Monday to Friday, with 2,147 separate instances reported in 2016/17. While 810 were reported between 8am and 4pm Monday to Friday.

In the Dudley borough, on Saturdays and Sundays 1,726 incidents were reported in 2015/16 and 1,402 in 2016/17.

Council leader, Councillor Patrick Harley, said: "I do think it is a strain on police. Anti-social behaviour is often not treated seriously enough. Quite often the police and council only get involved in the issues when complainants have suffered with weeks, months or years of problems."

Chief Superintendent Richard Fisher said: "We take reports of anti-social behaviour seriously and actively encourage people to report any concerns to us. Calls regarding anti-social behaviour have remained steady over the last six years since we simplified the recording process in July 2012. There have been no significant changes in Dudley."

Collapse of Carillion: Concern on suppliers

THE collapse of Carillion has raised 'significant concerns' about the Government's relationship with major suppliers, and the potential impact on the delivery of important public services, an MPs' report says.

The Public Accounts Committee published Government risk assessments of its suppliers, taking into account stock market performance and financial statements.

Wolverhampton-based Carillion had been given a risk rating of amber for months owing to its performance on contracts with the Ministry of Defence and Ministry of Justice, but it was not until after the company issued a profit warning last July that the Government downgraded it to red.

"It appears the Government was not aware of Carillion's financial distress until this point," said the report.

Secrecy

"In November 2017, officials recommended a provisional black rating for Carillion. However, following representations from the company, the Cabinet Office did not confirm the designation. Carillion collapsed less than two months later."

Meg Hillier, who chairs the committee, said secrecy surrounded large Government contracts to deliver public projects and services.

"The strategic supplier risk assessments provide an insight into the relationship between Government and suppliers and give rise to many questions we want to pursue."

The committee is to hold an inquiry into concerns raised by the papers relating to suppliers with a risk rating of amber, red or black.

Dance festival to push boundaries

Guinness record dream for the floating catwalk

By Pippa Armstrong

FAMOUS faces joined 30 professional models and some 120 guests to witness a Guinness world record attempt for the longest floating catwalk.

A Wolverhampton-based model agency is behind the bid, now waiting to hear if it has a place in the Guinness Book of Records.

Dream Street Models, which was based in Walsall but is now at Hilton Hall in Essington, had waited 28 weeks to get approval from Guinness for the attempt.

The journey began in Stourport and saw the catwalk on a boat floating down the River Severn – considered to be the UK's longest river at 220 miles.

A two-hour fashion show attracted such faces as X Factor stars Stevi Ritchie and Chloe Jasmine as well as a performance from 90s Icelandic pop singer Alda Bjork Olafsdottir who has sold five million records worldwide.

Platform

The event showcased designs from all over the UK – high street to couture fashion. The backstage team included the Bryanna Angel make-up artist as seen in Vogue and Julian Fiddimore's Revail who manage the elite beauty queens in the UK, along with top hair-stylist Hair by Harps.

Dream Street Models founder Chloe Avon said: "I am happy to be able to provide a platform for designers to be seen whilst giving models the opportunity to walk in a large production."

She expects to find out within the next fortnight whether they achieved a world record. Dream Street is getting a reputation for unusual fashion venues. Last September it held a fashion show at Blithbury Reindeer Lodge in Rugeley. The next show will take place on a moving train at Chasewater Railway in Burntwood on July 1.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Bid to save fields from development

A CAMPAIGN has been launched opposing a proposal for a designer outlet shopping centre in Oldbury. A group opposed to the development of Lion Farm playing fields picketed a meeting at Sandwell Council this week. They want to halt a proposal for a scheme that developers say could create 2,000 jobs.

No application has yet been submitted for the 200,000sq ft development on council-owned land close to Junction 2 of the M5. But one of the campaigners, Mike Siviter, of Newbury Lane, said: "I thought councils were supposed to be redeveloping brown-field sites not green spaces."

Event raised funds to help macaques

DUDLEY Zoo is sending more than £250 to a project helping to protect macaques in Indonesia, thanks to the generosity of visitors.

A total of £257.40 was raised during International Macaque Week when primate keepers held an awareness event throughout the last Bank Holiday weekend.

A stand was set up in the Castle Courtyard and keepers were on hand to spread the word about Selamatkan Yaki – a project working with critically endangered Sulawesi crested black macaques in Indonesia.

All roads lead to annual Auto Fest

HUNDREDS of car enthusiasts are expected to attend the annual Auto Fest in Bromsgrove on Sunday.

The event on June 3 at Stoke Prior Country Club will showcase classic, modern, sports and performance cars. It will also include a family entertainment zone with bouncy castle and stalls.

The festival will raise money for Onside, a charity which supports people with mental health, dementia and learning disabilities. The show is open from 10am to 5pm. Entry is £5 per car, £2 per bike.

Neighbours celebrate with £1,000 prize each

SIX lucky neighbours in Hagley are celebrating after their postcode was drawn as a winner of the People's Postcode Lottery's Daily Prize.

Church Street residents who are subscribers to the lottery have each picked up a cheque of £1,000 thanks to their DY9 0NA postcode.

A minimum of 32 per cent of the People's Postcode Lottery ticket sales goes to charities, including local causes.

Rental bikes will roll out across region this summer

THE first fleet of rental bikes will appear in the West Midlands over the summer, it has been revealed.

Nextbike is to roll out 5,000 bikes along with connecting parking hubs over the next two years. The first 100 will be introduced at University of Birmingham in the coming months. This will be followed by 900 in Wolverhampton from September.

Dudley, Sandwell and Walsall will each get 300 this autumn.

It has not yet been decided where the docking stations will go but cities and towns get one station to around every 16 bikes.

Nextbike was picked to run the bike concession by Transport for West Midlands. The move will create 50 jobs in the West Midlands.

Julian Scriven, director of Nextbike, said: "Nextbike will not only help deliver a cost-effective and environmentally-conscious way of getting around, it will bring a lot of additional benefits, such as less traffic and improved health."

It will cost 50p to use a bike for 30 minutes. Subscription packages will be available for £30-a-year with the first 30 minutes of every journey free, then 25p for each 30 minutes after.

The bikes will have eight gears. They will be similar to London's so-called Boris Bikes, named after former mayor Boris Johnson, who introduced them.

Teenager has died after car crash

AN 18-year-old has died after a crash which saw a car flip onto its roof in Upper Gornal, police have confirmed. The teenager, named locally as Ryan Wainwright, died following the crash on Clarence Street, in the early hours of May 20.

Firefighters also helped two other men from the car. A woman managed to get out herself before emergency services arrived.

Tribute messages and flowers have been left at the scene.

One read: "You will always be remembered, always put a smile on everyone's face. RIP Ryan Wainwright." Another read: "Words can't describe how heartbroken I am."

Police said investigations are currently ongoing.

Dedicated Iain's work is extra special

Special Constable Iain Hulbert

STUDYING nursing by day and stopping suspected drug dealers by night – life is certainly varied for West Midlands Police Special Constable Iain Hulbert.

The 34-year-old has been a volunteer with the force for the last 13 years and plays an important role in assisting full-time officers. His dedication and commitment has seen him awarded the title West Midlands Police Special Constable of the Year.

Iain juggles being a student at Birmingham University, working part-time as a first responder and being a single father to carry out his policing work in Dudley. He dedicates more than 500 hours every year and has been involved in a range of police work including neighbourhood patrols, gathering vital intelligence on the streets, mentoring cadets as well as supporting events and operations.

He has been right on the frontline helping to stop a car of suspected drug dealers and to recover a large quantity of class A drugs, plus a loaded firearm hidden under a seat. He has helped save someone's life after identifying they had sepsis when displaying symptoms which others could have confused as flu.

He said: "I really enjoy being a special – I look forward to the days I can get into policing mode and work alongside regular officers on the Dudley Neighbourhood Taskforce. It is such a varied role, very fulfilling and I have really been made to feel part of the West Midlands Police family."

"Even with my other commitments this is not something I would want to give up; there is so much satisfaction in playing a part in helping our communities."

Veterans to be honoured on Armed Forces Day

WAR heroes are being invited to attend a medal presentation as part of Armed Forces Day.

Veterans living in the Dudley borough are encouraged to attend an event celebrating the work of servicemen and women, past and present at Himley Hall and Park, on Sunday, July 1.

The day will include a presentation of medals and badges, including the HM Armed Forces Veterans Badge by the Mayor of Dudley, Councillor Alan Taylor. The free event is being run by Dudley Council from 11am to 5pm.

Amanda Tomlinson, chief executive at Black Country Housing Group, which is sponsoring this year's event, said: "We are calling on servicemen and women who are entitled to, or have already been sent their HM Armed Forces Badges, to come forward and have them officially presented at Armed Forces Day."

Councillor Taylor, added: "The council's Armed Forces Day celebrations are growing every year, attracting thousands of visitors to Himley Hall. It's free entry and includes entertainment for all generations of the family to enjoy with the formal proceedings and badge presentation being a highlight of the day."

Vehicles

Other highlights include music performances by the RAF Cosford Voluntary Band, First World War and Second World War-themed history talks, a display of historic military vehicles and children's entertainment including vintage fairground rides.

Anyone who believes they are entitled to one of the HM Armed Forces Veterans Badges should email db-s-modmo-vetsbadge@mod.uk to apply, or for medal queries DBS-Medals@mod.uk, or call the Veterans UK helpline on 0808 1914218.

Veterans need to have applied for, and received their badge, before contacting Dudley Council in order to have them presented on the day.

Veterans who served on the Arctic convoys and in the Bomber Command can also apply for their badge before Armed Forces Day by calling the Veterans UK helpline. Anyone who has already received one of the badges but not had it formally presented to them, can contact Dudley Council on (01384) 818186 to be part of the ceremony.

Liberty to shut site but give jobs pledge

NEARLY 50 workers at a factory in the Black Country have been told it will close at some point over the next five months.

Liberty Group says it has decided to pull out of the markets served by its Drawn Tubes and Fairbright Wire businesses in Phoenix Street, West Bromwich.

But the company says it will aim to find new roles for the 49 workers at either its own sites in the West Midlands or with other engineering companies nearby that it has close links with.

Liberty has around 17 sites in the West Midlands and employs around 1,000 people across the Black Country after it bought up a string of factories following the collapse of Caparo Industries in 2015.

Both Phoenix Street businesses face a long-term decline in their markets and competition from bigger and cheaper rivals on the Continent.

Broken Or Damaged Windows? Faulty Locks, Handles, Hinges?

IN MY VIEW

with Mark Andrews

Storing up trouble as millions shop online

IT'S always a bit of a downer when you return from your holiday. And even more so when you switch on the television hoping to relax with a pint of mild and a bit of Can't Pay? We'll Take It Away, only to be greeted instead by Fiona Phillips wittering on about the 'fall of a national institution'.

Asking the so-so former breakfast TV presenter to analyse the decline of Marks & Spencer is like getting Gazza to front a documentary on Greek literature. Strange choice.

But while it was not the viewing I had planned, there is also no denying Channel 5 had its timing spot-on with this one, coinciding perfectly with the news that M&S would be closing 100 stores, with the one in Walsall among the first.

Now, unlike Fiona, I don't hold any great place in my heart for M&S. Maybe it's the memories of never-ending boredom in childhood, when this seemed by far the duller place in the world. Or maybe it was the way it so quickly turned its back on the high streets of Dudley and West Bromwich when it calculated there was more profit in having a single branch at Merry Hill.

This is not a national institution, it's just another store chain. And one which showed so little loyalty to its Black Country customers in the 1980s can hardly demand an outpouring of goodwill now it is facing hard times.

But while I won't mourn the brand, I do feel huge sadness for the people losing their jobs through no fault of their own, and also the huge hole this is going to leave in our already-struggling town centres. Already there is speculation about the future viability of the Saddlers Centre, where the Walsall branch is based, and I fear we will see more of the same when the full extent of the closure programme becomes clear.

It seems the one thing everyone agrees on is that it is growth of online shopping which is killing our towns. So why do we do it? Well frankly, I don't. I've never seen the appeal in paying up-front for items I haven't seen, and then being told they can't be delivered because I am at work. Yet strangely, millions of people can't get enough of it, probably the same people who will take to their keyboards bemoaning the decline of their town.

It's time to wake up. If you care about where you live, support your town centre, even if it means paying a few pounds more. Otherwise, a few years from now, all we will be left with is a few global technology giants. And nobody will make documentaries mourning their passing.

No life, or style for retirement, it seems, with magazine

Blair's latest Brexit re-referendum rambblings brought forth an interesting response

Gordon Brown in his days as PM – as chancellor, he is accused of targeting Mr Rhodes

TV fly-on-the-wall show 24 Hours In Police Custody – making no assumptions

Feeling ruff after taking supplement

I MENTIONED Virol a few days ago. It was a food supplement which vanished from the market some years back. A reader, after some research, points out that the ingredients of Virol sound remarkably like dog food. Well, it never did me any harm. Woof.

INTRIGUINGLY, a Google search for Virol will take you to an Amazon web page offering three varieties of malt extract and a weatherproof masonry sealer. Versatile, or what?

AH, the eternal steely pragmatism of the British. An online debate about Tony Blair's suggestion for a second Brexit referendum brought forth this gem: "While the message was okay, nonetheless after reading it, could someone please shoot the ****ing messenger."

ANOTHER flurry of messages follows up the issue of litter around Loch Lomond which I touched on recently. "The answer is education," declares one contributor. Really? And how many hours in the classroom does it take to convey the message: "Don't drop that."?

THERE were times during the Chancellorship of Gordon Brown when I thought he had it in for me personally. His budgets seemed surgically targeted at me for earning a little more than the minimum wage, using a company car and having a fuel card, while he was bunging more money to the old and frail. Year after year, Brown took money out of my wage packet and gave it to my mother-in-law. Was this his revenge for one or two (okay, maybe more) difficult interviews? Anyway, the Tory government has now taken up the hounding of me. In the crusade against pollution, I am targeted for driving a diesel car, for having solid-fuel central heating and for keeping the baronial hall tepid with a couple of log-burning stoves. All may be banned in the name of cleaner air. Dare no-one suggest the problem could be solved if selfish people learned to breathe a little less?

WHEN a man in Ohio phoned police to report that a pig was following him home, the cops assumed the caller was drunk. Not so. He was sober and the animal was a domestic pig in need of company. I bet we were all reminded of the poem about the drunk who falls asleep in the gutter next to a pig. There are several versions but they all end with a lady, disgusted at the sight exclaiming: "You can tell a man who boozes by the company he chooses." / And the pig got up and slowly walked away.

SOMETHING called a "Lifestyle Retirement Magazine" has just arrived from Legal & General. Dear God above – is this the future? The front cover shows an old bloke with a grey Corby-like beard riding a bike while wearing a plastic helmet. On his feet are trainers, worn over black socks, presumably to indicate he is English. They call it "lifestyle" but what sort of life is this and where, oh where, is the style? Turn to page 5 of the L&G leaflet and there's a graphic of a toilet roll. Why? Because according to a survey, one of the things that surprises people when they retire is "How many toilet rolls we use." For the record, I know several retired folk who don't own a bike or a beard, and who never, ever fret about bog-paper. And if they found themselves morphing into Jeremy Corbyn I'm sure they'd do something about it. If this is the image most people have about retirement it may explain why so many are happy to keep on working.

EVERY journalist knows that sinking feeling experienced by the detective in 24 Hours in Police Custody (C4) when the threads fall apart and you realise the great story you're working on isn't a story at all. In this case it came when an officer uncovered medical records showing that a woman found with her throat slashed – and assumed to be a murder victim – had a long history of self-harming, including trying to cut her throat. But then the only eye-witness had already told cops she had seen the "victim" alone at the death scene. I found it surprising that anybody, in this case the woman's oddball partner, could be arrested and held in custody on little more than an assumption. They tell us we're innocent until proved guilty!

BUT then police and hacks work differently. For example, "never assume anything" is one of the golden rules of journalism. At least I assume it is.

TALKING POINT

Music to my ears to say I'm a rock chick

LIKE Cher without the surgery, Debbie Harry on a quiet day and Madonna if she ate cake – I too am an ageing rock chick. As a sassy teen rocker I can remember looking at 'old' people at gigs – probably aged about 35 to my young eyes – and wondering why would they still be turning out for concerts at their age?

Today I am more than a little over the age of 35 and still go to as many gigs as ever. Admittedly my back and calf muscles ache the following day. And though my jeans are still too tight it is in very different places and more to do with a hearty supper rather than some DIY tapering on my mum's sewing machine. I tend to take a coat these days too.

The standing/dancing area remains my ticket of choice and, being vertically challenged, I need to get close enough to see. Though when going to watch the 'classic' bands still going from my youth I find they are often all-seaters now. Even the singers tend to need a sit down.

I can still be found at the odd music festival – but NEVER in the camping area. Camping at music festivals is something that can only be enjoyed by the young or insomniacs. Give me a nice warm hotel bed and an en suite bathroom every time. My back isn't up to a camp bed or deflating airbed anymore.

Sadly, there seems something a little undignified to see women of a certain age still staking a claim to their place in the music scene. Isn't it time Madonna covered up a little and stopped subjecting us to images of her muscles and veiny arms? And I don't doubt that the excitable young things bounding around at Kasabian view my bestie and I as a pair of Edina and Patsy clones.

In truth I always thought I would 'grow out of' loud and live music at some point and develop a love of easy listening and maybe even classical. Thankfully it never happened.

I dislike the rapid-chat-to-music that my daughter listens to and can regularly be heard shouting mumpily 'turn that row down'. Would it kill her to listen to a guitar band every now and again?

But music still lifts my mood, evokes uncharacteristic energy and movement from me and brings a smile to my face. So I have no intention of giving up going to concerts – I am an ageing rocker and proud of it.

I once saw a 'motivational' plaque with the message 'Life is a piece of music, and you are supposed to be dancing.' Well I am still dancing – just not in the the mosh pit anymore.

Great strides made during walk week

LIVING Streets' Walk to School Week is over for another year and we'd like to thank everyone across Dudley who contributed to making it a massive success.

Nearly 32,000 pupils from Dudley joined in with pupils across the UK to enjoy the many benefits of walking to school.

Motor vehicles are the biggest source of air pollution and one in four cars on the road at peak times are on the school run. More children walking to school means fewer vehicles on the road and improved air quality for everyone.

Families in Dudley can know that they've helped be part of the solution this Walk to School Week by swapping four wheels for two feet.

Walking to school not only improves our air quality but is a great way for children to build more exercise into their daily lives, helping them to arrive at school healthier, happier and ready to learn.

Once again, a huge thank you and congratulations to everyone who took part in this year's Walk to School Week - with your help we'll get more children experiencing a healthier and happier walk to school.

The week may be over but the walking doesn't have to stop. Parents, carers and teachers can head to livingstreets.org.uk/walktoschool for tips and advice on continuing to make great strides.

Too much wasted on EU and aid

I see some waste-of-space 'discussion' group recently suggested that pensioners should pay more in taxes to support the young. What utter garbage!

I paid tax and full National Insurance contributions for 46 years, as did many of my friends and work colleagues and I'm still paying £1,100 a year income tax on my pension because, knowing that the UK state pension was the lowest in Europe, I had the foresight to pay additional voluntary contributions into my works pension.

Most of the income tax and National Insurance contributions was, and continues to be, squandered by successive useless British governments on such things as the 'ring fenced' foreign aid budget and on our continued £70 million a day payments to the European Union dictatorship which, according to reports, most young people support!

It's drivers that cause accidents, not the junction

ISN'T all the talk about the 'dangerous junction' at Gospel End Street and Vicar Street rather missing the point? Drivers cause the accidents, not the junction.

These accidents are caused by one of a number of obvious issues - drivers driving too fast; not indicating their intentions; or just plain impatience.

All are symptoms of what is becoming painfully obvious, the general standard of driving is appalling.

And it's not just the young drivers, older drivers who should know better are just as bad.

Speed bumps might help but I'm not convinced.

Volunteers are helping children

ACROSS the West Midlands hundreds of inspiring people are helping to transform young lives with volunteering work and supporting The Children's Society.

This Volunteers Week (1-7 June) we would like to say a huge thank you to the 2,964 supporters in the West Midlands who help our charity in so many different ways and support vulnerable children. There are 29,309 children living in the West Midlands classed as children 'in need' and 6,455 in care. The Children's Society's volunteers, campaigners and supporters make a real difference to so many young people by supporting them directly in our services, by volunteering in our charity shops, by organising events, donating and raising vital funds and awareness.

Team Ashwood score double Chelsea triumph

A COLOURFUL display from a Kingswinford garden centre won the President's Award and a Gold Award at the Royal Horticultural Society's prestigious Chelsea Flower Show.

Ashwood Nurseries' display of beautiful early spring flowering hellebores caught the eyes of judges in the Great Pavilion.

The colourful herbaceous plants were making their debut this year, the first time that hellebores have been shown as a single exhibit at Chelsea.

Nurseries owner John Massey VMH and Ashwood's hellebore breeder Kevin Belcher masterminded the project to showcase their world-renowned Helleborus x hybridus Ashwood Garden Hybrids, widely regarded as some of the best hellebores ever produced.

The double accolade, combined with it being a debut for a single exhibit of hellebores at Chelsea, resulted in plenty of media attention. Carol Klein visited the stand, interviewing Mr Massey for the BBC TV Chelsea Flower Show coverage.

Weather

Plants earmarked by Mr Belcher for flowering at Chelsea came out of the cold store into the May sunshine and burst into life. However, this Spring's weather has been testing them with the plants constantly on the move – windy conditions meant that they had to be re-located to a more protected site, then very warm temperatures resulted in them being returned to the cold store more than once to prevent them peaking too soon.

'Team Ashwood' led by manager Karrina Gilbert helped prepare and Mr Massey said: "Everything we've worked for over the last year was put to the test. The real stars of the show are the plants themselves and we just have to hope they perform on cue."

Major Avanti investment delivers new showroom

Commercial feature

A LEADING independent manufacturer of kitchens, bedrooms and bathrooms has invested more than £150,000 into the launch of a new 'flagship' showroom in Stourbridge.

Avanti, which enjoyed a record year of sales in 2017, has taken over a 3,000 sq ft premises at Oldswinford Cross and is looking to bring the latest in styles and space saving technology to consumers in the area.

This includes inspirational room set designs, featuring on-trend colours, minimalist styling, the latest handleless technology, feature islands and funky shades such as 'spearmint green' and 'copse green'.

There is also a media area with an interactive TV that displays 3D room designs and product videos for customers looking to visualise their dream kitchens and bedrooms in store.

"We have been looking at creating an additional Avanti presence in this area for some time and wasted no time in taking the site when it became available in November," explained Lee Capewell, Managing Director.

"The last six months have been spent creating a flagship showroom that marks a new way of displaying the products we sell. For the first time we have gone for large room sets rather than lots of smaller displays to provide a real-life ambience."

Demonstrations

He continued: "When people visit we want them to enjoy an experience and make it as exciting and pleasurable as possible, with the added bonus of lots of car parking at the rear. We've even got an operational kitchen so that we can regularly hold cooking demonstrations."

Avanti employs more than 100 people at its manufacturing facility in Lye and at nine showrooms across the Black Country and Birmingham.

Visitors will be able to view one of the most striking kitchen displays ever assembled by the company, including in-frame painted door styling.

Lee concluded: "2017 was our best ever year and we are hoping to build on this with the launch of the Oldswinford showroom, opening up additional markets for us."

"There are also plans in place to acquire a prime site in Worcestershire, as we look to bring the Avanti name and reputation for excellent customer service to even more areas."

Avanti has been going strong since 1981 and has built its reputation on consistently high standards of quality and customer care. Two thirds of sales come from existing customers and their recommendations to friends and family.

For further information please visit www.avantikb.co.uk. The Oldswinford showroom will be open 10am to 5pm (Monday-Saturday) and 11am to 4pm on Sunday.

Former paperboy murder suspect has heart attack

A FORMER suspect in the Carl Bridgewater murder has suffered a heart attack, his second major health scare since a TV documentary appeared to implicate him in the paperboy's death at Yet Tree Farm in 1978.

Pensioner Bert Spencer, originally from Stourbridge, is recovering at his Lincolnshire home following surgery. He claims the attack was brought on by 40 years of stress from having been such a high-profile suspect, exacerbated by the Channel 4 programme two years ago which revisited the crime. He said: "There is only so much a human being can take. It's inevitable that so much stress has had a serious effect on my health."

The 77-year-old had been moving heavy flowerpots minutes before he collapsed.

Amnesty extended as more guns taken off the streets

A FORTNIGHT firearms surrender campaign to tackle violent crime has been extended.

West Midlands Police's crack-down will run for a further week, now ending this Sunday, June 3.

The force has seen more than 70 firearms handed in so far during the campaign.

Weapons can be surrendered at any of their stations, including Wolverhampton, Bloxwich, Brierley Hill, Birmingham, West Bromwich, Wolverhampton and Bloxwich. They can also be handed in by calling West Midlands Police on 101 and arranging for officers to make a home visit.

So far in 2018, police have taken 53 firearms off the streets amid 45 reported firearms discharges, compared to 62 in the same period last year. The force's last surrender saw nearly 250 potentially lethal weapons and ammunition handed in.

Detective Inspector Rod Rose said: "I would urge anyone who is holding a gun, maybe through fear or misguided loyalty to someone else, to hand it in now, otherwise the alternative could be up to five years in prison."

West Midlands Police and Crime Commissioner David Jamieson added: "Every weapon taken off the streets, is potentially a life saved. The consequences of violent crime have a devastating impact."

The history of live weapons handed in will be checked for any evidence of criminal use. The firearms will either be destroyed at West Midlands Police armoury or retained for training exercises.

Vampires and zombies at castle fright nights

DUDLEY Castle will become the dramatic backdrop for a double bill of classic horror movies this summer when the castle courtyard is again turned into an open-air cinema.

For the third year running Flatpack will bring movies to the 11th century castle yard and, following last year's screening of An American Werewolf in London, it will see a pair of fright nights offered in August.

Influential horror movie Night of the Living Dead, which really started the modern zombie genre, will be screened on Friday, August 3, and then on Saturday August 4, it is stylish 1980s teenaged vampire flick The Lost Boys starring Corey Haim and Kiefer Sutherland.

Zoo Manager, Matt Lewis, said: "Film goes need to bring a chair or a blanket to sit on and then can get comfy ready to watch the cult classics in an incredible atmosphere."

Both films are 15 certificate and doors open each evening at 7pm. Both nights will have warm-up films shown at 9pm and the feature presentation will kick off at 9.30pm. There will be hot food, a licensed bar, mood lighting and special effects. It is £10 per film and a double bill ticket deal is £18 with concessions available. To book call (01384) 215313. ## Lydia's pedal power in memory of friend

Lydia Pountney, from Stourbridge, on her cycling challenge

A WOMAN from Stourbridge has completed a 47-mile bike ride in memory of her childhood friend who died suddenly.

Lydia Pountney, from Pedmore, took on the Peak District Pioneer Adventure Cross bike challenge in Derbyshire in memory of her friend, Steph Oakley, who tragically died from sudden arrhythmic death syndrome in November.

Steph, from Kingswinford, was just 26 when she passed away.

Nurse Lydia, 28, said: "Our dads used to work together so she was a family friend and we used to holiday together. We have a lot of memories."

Lydia, who completed the long uphill course in seven hours, was also raising money for SADS, a charity which funds research and medical equipment to prevent premature sudden cardiac death.

She added: "It was very hot and hard work but very rewarding and worth it."

She has beaten her original fundraising target at £500, so far raising more than £900 with more to be collected.

One in four spend their life indoors

A QUARTER of people in West Midlands spend almost their entire lives indoors where the air can be up to five times more polluted than outside.

New research by YouGov reveals an 'indoor generation' that are largely unaware of the significant health risks posed by spending too much time indoors - especially on children, whose bedrooms can be the most polluted room in the house.

The survey asked people how much time they spend indoors with 25 per cent of people in the region saying between 21 and 24 hours each day, and a further 29 per cent of people said they spend between 19 and 20 hours inside.

It also revealed that the majority of people in the West Midlands (58 per cent) believe indoor air quality is cleaner or no better than outside, when it can be up to five times more polluted.

Vintage transport fair steams in at Himley again

A HIGHLY popular annual Vintage Transport and Country Fair will return to Himley Hall and Park at the weekend.

The event will run on Saturday and Sunday with organisers promising it will be bigger and better than before.

Now in its fifth year, the day has developed from being the former Steamer Sunday to a vintage vehicle display and country fair attracting exhibitors from across the country.

Steam engines, fairground organs, tractors, classic cars, vintage motorbikes, cycles and vintage fire engines will all be on display.

Councillor Ian Kettle, Dudley Council's cabinet member for tourism, said: "There is plenty for people of all ages to enjoy and visitors will have the opportunity to chat to owners about their well-loved exhibits."

There will also be arts and craft stalls, street food, vintage stalls, hand-crafted collectables, a children's funfair, chainsaw carving, radio car club and live music at the free event.

The fair will run from 10am to 4pm on both days. Parking costs £5.

For more information, visit www.himleyhallandpark.co.uk/vintagefair

Killer driver's appeal kicked out by judges

A DANGEROUS driver who killed a great-grandfather in a crash on a Black Country road has failed to have his 10-year sentence reduced.

Personal trainer Kamran Raja, 37, was driving at 'motorway speeds' on the A4123 Wolverhampton Road in Oldbury just before he struck 85-year-old Edward Harris' Honda in April 2016.

He pleaded guilty to causing the pensioner's death by dangerous driving at Wolverhampton Crown Court last September but later applied to the Court of Appeal against the length of his prison term. However the Appeal judges have concluded he deserves every day of his decade-long sentence and have rejected the bid.

Raja was travelling at almost double the 40mph limit shortly before ploughing into the Honda at the junction with Castle Road East, propelling the car 100ft up the road

Petition as residents want their bus back

COUNCILLORS are calling for the reinstatement of a bus route serving Brierley Hill.

Councillors Judy Foster, John Martin and Karen Jordan, who represent Brockmoor and Pensnett Ward, are campaigning for the 228 bus service to be restored to Wallows Road in Brierley Hill.

It follows concerns raised by residents about the decision by bus company Hanson's to withdraw the service from Wallows Road in April 2017, when they extended the route to Russells Hall Hospital.

The new operator, Diamond Bus, decided to continue with the altered route when they purchased Hanson's last year.

Councillor Foster said: "We agree with residents that the distance and steep terrain makes it difficult to access bus services, particularly when carrying shopping or pushing prams or using wheelchairs."

"There is also a busy road to cross to get to the alternative bus stop identified. This is a very unsatisfactory situation and so we are inviting residents to sign our petition to reinstate the service on Wallows Road"

Complained

Councillor Foster has spoken with Transport for West Midlands, which commissions bus services across the area, and together with the other two Labour councillors representing the ward has organised a petition signed by local residents, which will be presented to a representative from the company.

By Steven Jones

There are also plans to present the petition at the Dudley Network review, scheduled for July.

Councillor Martin said: "A lot of elderly people have approached us and complained about it being taken off."

The petition already has several hundred signatures.

Councillor Martin added: "People are pleased that the councillors have listened and taken some action. It was down to the residents coming forward, all credit to them. We were only happy to help."

A spokesman for Transport for West Midlands (TfWM), said: "TfWM is unable to specify the routes of commercial bus services, however we work closely with operators to understand the impact on customers when changes are made."

"National Express West Midlands is undertaking a review of the bus network in Dudley in the autumn. As part of that, this location will be assessed to see if any bus services can be diverted to serve Wallows Road."

Peace and love reigns at homecoming concert

It was a triumphant homecoming for Peace in Birmingham with a full house at the O2 Academy 2 venue Photo by Jonnie Craig

Peace, O2 Academy, Birmingham
ON the title track of the new Peace album frontman Harry Koisser sings 'Kindness Is The New Rock 'n' Roll', but the old rock 'n' roll remains exhilarating when performed by this band of adopted Brummies.

On the final night of a 15-date UK tour to launch their third album, it was a triumphant homecoming for the ferocious four playing their psychedelic-tinged guitar rock to a full house at a hot and heaving O2 Academy 2.

The smaller room added to the atmosphere and may have reminded long term fans of those early days in Digbeth when the Worcestershire band set the city abuzz with their weaving guitars and Koisser's Bolan-like quavering vocals on their songs about 'lovesick losers'.

On a stage bedecked with flowers, Peace reigned supreme and there was plenty of love for them from the crowd, moshing from the off when Koisser and co opened up with fans' favourites Ocean's Eye and Bloodshake.

In fact, they had been seen on stage earlier when they launched their own backstage invasion of the set by main support act Whenyoung to sing-along with the promising Irish trio, dressed in that band's favoured boiler suits. Nice flossing skills by Peace guitarist Doug Castle!

Peace's 90-minute set featured lots of songs from all three albums. Highlights included their latest anthem Power, savage versions of Money and I'm A Girl, swaggering rocker Shotgun Hallelujah, the soaring sonic delight of Higher Than The Sun, plus impressive new songs Silverlined and Kindness Is The New Rock 'n' Roll.

Harry in jeans and a silk red shirt (or was it a pyjama top?) was flanked by Doug and his brother Sam on bass, with drummer Dom Boyce sat behind propelling the sound. Harry was in a mood to chat between songs and even invited 17-year-old fan Ed up on stage to celebrate his birthday.

He also performed a new version of old favourite Perfect Skin, on introducing California Daze revealed that it had been written a stone's throw from the venue and gave a gorgeous solo rendition of Float Forever.

It ended where it began for Peace, with their indie rock classic Lovesick. Peace and Love, the perfect combination.

From penalty kicks to drop kicks for striker

FORMER Wolves and Aston Villa striker Grant Holt has signed a deal to become a professional wrestler.

Holt, aged 37, is now in training ready to make his debut in the ring. He says he will initially combine his new role with his football commitments.

Currently player-coach at National League side Barrow, Holt has agreed a deal with the British professional wrestling promotion to appear in more than one of their shows.

The striker was 34 when he endured an ill-fated loan spell at Wolves during the 2015/16 season, making only four substitute appearances under then-boss Kenny Jackett and failing to score having signed on loan from League One side Wigan Athletic.

Contract

He had also spent a similar loan spell at Villa Park in the 2013/14 season, making just 10 appearances, but did score for the Villans in a 2-1 defeat to Fulham.

The World Association of Wrestling said Holt will appear in its Fightmare 3 Supershow in 2019, while BBC Radio Norfolk has also reported he has signed a contract to become a professional wrestler. The former Nottingham Forest forward will team up with Roy and Zak Knight, also known as the UK Hooligans, on WAW's show.

Holt has scored more than 150 goals in more than 400 career appearances as a footballer, with Rochdale, Shrewsbury and Wigan also among his former clubs. He is not the first professional footballer to branch out into wrestling. Stuart Tomlinson spent two years in WWE using the ring name Hugo Knox after leaving Burton in 2013.

Former magazine editor talks

Clent Gardening Club

THE April meeting of the Club welcomed guest speaker Tamsin Westhorpe from Stocktonbury Gardens near Leominster to present a talk on "My Life as a Gardening Editor".

Tamsin was the editor of The English Garden magazine for 20 years but now works full time at her nursery.

Tamsin began her talk by advising that during her teenage years she was at a loss to develop a career until she got a job working in a garden owned by an elderly gentleman in Bournemouth and a love of gardening was born.

Later on she became involved in journalism and gave an insight into the pressures of meeting deadlines and producing quality articles for her readers. She explained the importance of a good magazine cover to attract readers and she showed some examples of good covers and some not so good!

Tamsin also showed a series of photographs of fine English gardens. An excellent talk was well received by all present including visitors from Belbroughton Horticultural Society with whom this was our annual joint meeting. The vote of thanks was given by Alan Starling, Belbroughton Horticultural Society chairman.

All are welcome at meetings held at Clent Village Hall on the fourth Friday, contact chairman Martin Grange 01562 883009.

Singers spring in with popular songs

Some of the choir members who entertained with a spring theme at the May luncheon

CHAIRMAN Ann Rogers welcomed 32 members to the May luncheon held at The Lodge, Wellington Road, Dudley.

The 22 St Andrew's Singers entertained members with a delightful variety of songs relating to spring. They began with Spring Magic, then The Merry Month of May and their soloist Gordon Parker sang Younger than Springtime from South Pacific. Margaret Noakes then joined him in a duet from the musical Salad Days.

It was announced that places were still available on the outing to Hagley Hall on July 18 for a tour of the house followed by a cream tea. Tickets are also available for Ann's Coffee Morning on August 3.

Dudley South Ladies Luncheon Club

Meetings are held on the second Friday each month at The Lodge, noon for 12.30 pm, the next being on June 8 when Mr. John Evans will explain why "Diamonds are the Queen's Best Friend". In July the speaker will be Dr. Jonathan White, medical advisor to the City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra. Visitors are most welcome and can attend three times before deciding to join. childhood games that were played, such as hopscotch, leap frog, skipping, marbles and conkers. He recalled radio programmes and the change in music as the

Police bosses now ditching 30-second target for 101 calls

WEST Midlands Police has ditched self-imposed targets for answering 101 calls, branding them 'no longer fit for purpose'. The force set itself a standard of answering all non-emergency calls inside 30 seconds.

But it has repeatedly failed to hit the target, with such calls usually answered in between two and three minutes. Bosses say they are dropping the target as call handlers now spend longer speaking to 101 callers with the aim of resolving queries immediately.

Shoppers are urged to fight fakes

PEOPLE are being urged to be vigilant and avoid buying counterfeit goods at markets or car boot sales.

Staffordshire County Council's trading standards team co-ordinates the national Real Deal markets campaign in the county. Market organisers can sign up to support the fight to halt the sale of counterfeit goods.

Council communities leader Gill Heath said: "We want people to avoid the pitfalls of counterfeit goods - protecting themselves and legitimate businesses.

"Counterfeit goods can be hard to detect just to look at, so a knock down price is a good indicator. These items are shoddy, they may be dangerous."

Some of the hidden dangers of counterfeit goods include counterfeit alcohol such as vodka contains dangerous chemicals, counterfeit perfume can often burn skin or leave a rash and may contain lead.

The force is also prioritising 999 emergency calls, a policy which has seen a vast improvement in performance over the last 12 months.

WMP took nearly 1.5-million non-emergency 101 calls last year.

Chief Superintendent Sally Bourner, head of force contact, said: "We've previously set ourselves a standard of striving to answer 101 calls inside 30 seconds; this is not a national guideline but one we introduced ourselves some years ago.

Demand

"That time target is no longer fit for purpose as demand is changing and we now spend longer speaking to 101 callers with the aim to resolve their query at the first opportunity.

"We have now removed the arbitrary non-emergency answering time target. However, non-emergency contact has improved in the last 12 months such that we're still routinely answering half of all 101 calls inside 30 seconds. We would also encourage people with non-emergency policing queries to go to the force's new web portal."

Figures show the force now answers more than nine in 10 of all emergency calls inside the national 10-second standard.

New homes with roots in distant past

Fossil reliefs have been incorporated into metal railings and brickwork on the site

A MULTI-MILLION pound housing development is paying homage to the rich geological history of the land on which it is built.

Midland Heart's Mons Hill development near the Wren's Nest National Nature Reserve was designed to be in keeping with the location, while providing much-needed homes at an affordable rent.

The £5.8 million Dudley development consists of 43 houses and flats and was built on the former site of a college building. It is a joint venture between Midland Heart and Lovell Partnership Ltd.

Wren's Nest is a site of special scientific interest, internationally renowned for its geological importance, as well as being a national hibernation spot for seven species of bat, home to birds and rare wild flowers.

The design of Mons Hill includes a number of fossil reliefs, incorporated into the brickwork and metal railings, while the roads all have geological associations.

Calymene Mews is called after the calymene blumenbachii trilobite - better known as the 'Dudley bug' - which is unique to Wren's Nest and was featured in the borough's coat of arms.

Silurian Mews takes its name from Wren's Nest's well-preserved Silurian coral reef fossils. Fossil View pays tribute to the 700 types of fossil that have been found at Wren's Nest.

Man stabbed in gang attack outside shop

A MAN was stabbed after a car tried to run him down in a shocking attack in broad daylight at Black Country petrol station.

Armed police swarmed to the busy Texaco garage at Dudley Port, where a gang knifed a man and smashed up the car he was in with baseball bats.

The victim had tried to flee the group after a car attempted to mow him down as he walked along Park Lane East. He jumped into a passing car before the group in the other vehicle gave chase. The black Vauxhall Corsa pulled onto the forecourt of the Texaco garage, which also has a Morrisons Daily store, and the vehicle's windows were smashed as stunned shoppers looked on.

The victim, a 31-year-old man, was stabbed in the leg. He was taken to hospital for treatment for injuries, which are not thought to be life-threatening.

Armed police arrived at the scene at around 7.50pm on Wednesday (May 23). Officers locked down the area with a cordon in place.

A West Midlands Police spokesman said: "Police are investigating a disorder that took place outside Morrisons on Dudley Port."

Anyone with information is asked to call West Midlands Police on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Praise be! Keshia Herbert stars as Deloris in Sister Act

Hallelujah! This soul sister is leading act in musical show

By Alison Norton

SINGER Keshia Herbert from West Bromwich is stepping into Whoopi Goldberg and Alexandra Burke's shoes by taking the lead role of feisty Deloris Van Cartier, in Quarry Bank Musical Theatre Society's production of Sister Act.

The musical, which was a hit movie and stage musical, is being staged by the amateur theatre group runs at Brierley Hill Civic Hall from Tuesday to Saturday, June 5-9. Keshia, aged 29, is currently a member of a choir called Legally Sound, organised by her employers, Higgs & Sons and together with her fellow choir members has performed in and won the Legal Harmony Choir competition, which was held in London in 2016.

"The role is challenging because there are a lot of songs and dances to learn as well as the dialogue," Keshia said. "But our director and musical director have been so supportive and the members have been helpful, offering their time to go through lines, dances and songs with me, even outside of rehearsals."

Sister Act is a popular choice for amateur companies with its story about a nightclub singer sent to a convent on a witness protection scheme. Keshia is joined by Sheila Wood as Mother Superior. For tickets visit www.qbmts.org.uk

Merger ditched over financial concerns

A PLANNED merger of health services was ditched after it emerged the new model would have operated at a loss.

Transforming Care Together would have combined Birmingham Community Healthcare NHS Foundation Trust, Black Country Partnership NHS Foundation Trust and Dudley and Walsall Mental Health Partnership NHS Trust.

The project, which was two years in the making, aimed to save £7 million a year but in April the merger was ditched.

A Black Country Partnership (BCP) spokesman said: "The business case for the integrated organisation was developed in early 2017. By February/March 2018 the financial position of each trust had changed and a revised financial projection suggested the integrated organisation would be operating at a loss. Clearly, it would not be sensible to undertake integration in circumstances where sustainable patient services could not be provided."

Orbital route motorway is now back on the table

Report by Peter Madeley

PLANS for a controversial motorway that will skirt the Black Country and carve through sections of Staffordshire are back.

The Western Orbital scheme – also known as the Wolverhampton bypass – was twice rejected in the 1990s and 2000s due to concerns over its environmental impact.

But a new report to the West Midlands Combined Authority (WMCA) reveals that transport body Midlands Connect is to use part of a £4 million funding pot to scope plans to revitalise the scheme.

Now dubbed the Western Strategic Route, the motorway would cut a 40-mile swathe through countryside from the M5 junction 4a at Bromsgrove, to junction 2 of the M54 near the 154 business park.

It would pass Codsall, Codsall Wood, Perton, Patterningham, Wombourne, Dudley, Stourbridge and Kidderminster.

South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson has accused Midlands Connect of attempting to push through the plans 'by stealth'.

He said: "It is of grave concern that Midlands Connect appear to be bringing these failed and rejected plans back to life."

"This proposed new motorway or bypass would rip through the heart of the South Staffordshire green belt and cause irreversible environmental damage to unblemished and cherished countryside."

"My constituents will be shocked to see that plans which have been repeatedly opposed and dropped are suddenly back on the table by stealth. I will be writing to Midlands Connect seeking urgent clarity."

Midlands Connect says the new route could form part of a new regional 'motorway hub' that would support the regional and national economy.

They are due to reveal more details on the scheme early next month.

Maria Machancoses, Midlands Connect director, said the route was 'one of a wide range of proposals that requires further analysis. Walsall councillor Richard Worrall, chair of the WMCA's transport delivery committee, said: "I think that if you want to ease the burden of traffic you really need people to use other means of transport."

"I'm not sure building more motorways is the answer." A consultation is under way over proposals for a link road between the M54 and M6 North/M6 Toll.

Man, 37, dies after motorbike accident

A MOTORCYCLIST has died after his bike hit a lamp post.

The rider was involved in the crash at Holloway Bank, Hill Top, West Bromwich, at around 11.20pm on Saturday. The 37-year-old, from Bilston, was taken to hospital but died on Sunday morning.

His family are currently being supported by specialist officers. West Midlands Police is now appealing for information and witnesses following the fatal collision.

Pc David Crump, from the Collision Investigation Unit, said: "Our sympathies are with the man's family at this difficult time. We are still working to establish the circumstances around what happened and I would ask anyone who hasn't already spoken to officers to contact us as soon as possible." Call 101 with information.

Deadliest plants may be lying in wait for you

BRITISH gardeners have been warned to beware of poisonous and toxic plants lurking in their flowerbeds this spring.

As spring rolls around and thousands of gardening enthusiasts take to their backyards to preen and plant, the garden experts at BillyOh.com have compiled a list of the ten deadly plants we should be steering away from this year.

Whilst to many, poisonous petals and toxic leaves might only be found in the pages of their favourite childhood fairy tales, the reality is that some of the nation's favourite and most common domestic and wild plants are actually harbouring harmful – and even deadly – toxins.

A spokesman for BillyOh.com said: "Being killed by eating part of a deadly plant sounds like something from a horror movie, or something that could only happen to somebody living in the most tropical countries.

"But in actual fact, some of the most toxic plants and flowers are perfectly capable of growing and surviving in the UK – and they do so in thousands of homes and gardens.

"While most are only deadly if consumed in large quantities, they still pack nasty toxins that can cause some pretty horrible side effects.

"From potentially suffering from vomiting and diarrhoea, to hallucinations and convulsions – these are some of many reasons Brits should educate themselves on the potentially harmful plants hiding in and around their homes."

Here are eight deadly plants that could be hiding in your home or garden:

FOXGLOVE

Don't let the pretty colours and striking appearance of the foxglove flower fool you – these bell-shaped blooms contain a compound used for treating heart failure, so eating them is like taking an unregulated dose of heart medicine.

HYDRANGEA

These popular blossoms contain a toxin that we'll all be scarily familiar with: cyanide! It can cause shortness of breath, dizziness, fainting, and a rapid pulse, along with a drop in blood pressure. But don't worry, pets and humans would need to ingest quite a bit for the effects of this flower to be fatal.

POINSETTIA

Most often seen around the festive period, the milky sap in the veins of this plant is actually quite toxic. There have only ever been two documented cases of them causing human death, but you'll want to keep your children and pets away from them nonetheless, as vomiting and diarrhoea could be rife if ingested.

PURPLE NIGHTSHADE (pictured bottom)

Steer very clear of this one – though the entire plant is toxic, if you pop just a handful of berries in your mouth you'll physically be incapable of calling for help. After you lose your voice, respiratory complications, intense digestive disruption, and violent convulsions begin – the combination of which has proven fatal.

These tiny, white bell-like shaped flowers pack a potent, sweet-smelling scent despite its small size, but just a bite can cause headaches, hot flushes, hallucinations and irritability – not to mention red blotches of cold, clammy skin. Even the water you place cut lily-of-the-valley flowers in can contain deadly traces of convallatoxin, which intensifies the heart's contractions.

OLEANDER

Just one leaf from this striking flower has been known to harm a child! Symptoms of poisoning include drowsiness, slowed heart rate and uncontrollable shaking.

WATER HEMLOCK

These small white flowers are some of the prettiest wildflowers you can get, but if you have curious pets especially, you should remove them. The toxin in white hemlock smells like carrot yet wastes no time in attacking the central nervous system, causing severe seizures and convulsions that turn deadly as a result of asphyxia and cardiovascular collapse.

MISTLETOE

Munching on a couple of leaves, berries, or shoots – or drinking mistletoe-flavored tea – will cause abdominal pain and diarrhoea.

Ways to make your home and property safe

Security cameras and lights can protect your home

MOST of us take pride in our homes, writes Claire Spreadbury.

It's our haven – the place where we can relax, be ourselves and feel safe.

But in order to keep ourselves, our houses and all of our belongings protected, we need to take home security seriously, and a lot of us don't.

We lock our doors when we go out or go to bed, but that's often the extent of our safeguarding. We nip out for the day leaving windows open, and many of us don't have alarms.

Here, Anthony Neary, managing director of home security retailer safe.co.uk, shares his expert tips on steps you can take to help keep your home safe and sound...

MAKE SURE YOUR HOME LOOKS LOVED

"Keeping your home looking well-loved and maintained is a good first step to deterring thieves," says Neary. "They're less likely to strike if it looks like there are people around on a regular basis."

Tidy away any tools, bins and ladders, as these can all give burglars a helping hand if they're looking to gain quick entry, and get yourself an alarm. The Yale SR-320 Smart Home Alarm Kit, £249 (safe.co.uk), gives you complete control via your smartphone.

BE LOCK SAVVY

Neary says: "Burglars will often scout a location before attempting a burglary, so ensure you keep valuable items (including car keys) away from windows, and make sure your front and back doors are fitted with high-quality locks that meet British Standard BS3621. Burglars will check the quality of locks on windows and whether there are two locks on the front door.

FIT LIGHTS AND CAMERAS – EVEN FAKE ONES HELP

"Security lights are a huge deterrent, as are prominent CCTV cameras. Quality CCTV cameras and alarm kits are much more accessible these days and don't have to cost the earth – but you could even fit a dummy camera for a quick fix, while you get your security sorted," Neary suggests. Try the Swann DVR8-4575 8 Channel HD 1080p - 4 Camera True Detect CCTV Kit, £289 (safe.co.uk), which detects heat and motion, records the footage onto its own hard drive, and can be watched back on a smartphone.

INVEST IN A SAFE

"Recent research we conducted found that less than one in 10 of us keep spare keys in a safe, instead opting for doormats and plant pots," Neary says. "Safes are a cost-effective way of keeping spare keys and other small items locked away from prying eyes."

PUT YOUR LIGHTS ON A TIMER

"Our research also found that over a third of us admit to leaving for a holiday without any home security measures in place, putting property at risk," says Neary. "A cheap and easy way to deter burglars while your home is empty is to set light timers. Make your home look occupied and have a trusted friend or family member check in."

Keeping it in the family with your Rhododendrons

ROSS UNDERWOOD

Head Gardener at Hodnet Hall

WHEN is a Rhododendron not a Rhododendron? The answer is when the plant in question is an Azalea.

The Rhododendron family is huge and like any large family it has many branches and sub-branches and claims of kinship can be complicated and even contentious. One large division is between Azaleas and Rhododendrons. All Azaleas are in fact members of the Rhododendron family and I would argue they make up some of the most garden worthy members. If they were part of my family I'd certainly invite them to my parties!

Many people's image of rhododendrons are of large sprawling evergreen shrubs that grace the spreading woodlands or lawns around stately homes. Often, because they are evergreen they have a reputation of short lived interest. Azaleas tend to be somewhat smaller than rhododendrons and although all rhododendrons are evergreen there are many deciduous Azaleas.

Among the deciduous Azaleas the Ghent, Knaphill and Mollis types are worth seeking out. They have excellent autumn colour and although sometimes the flowers can be individually small they come in bright and sunny colours that make up for any diminutive flower size. R. luteum is a yellow flowered species that has a heady scent which it has imparted to many of its offspring.

Hardy

Deciduous Azaleas are all hardy and can grow up to one and a half to two metres in ten years. They can be planted in sun or light shade in and acid soil or compost and propagated easily from layers, cuttings or division. A few of them can be prone to mildew especially in dry weather so a small blast of fungicide or a foliage feed of calcified seaweed always comes in handy. If you have room for a selection of more than one plant then you can have flower and scent from April until July.

My favourite is the double yellow flowered R. narcissiflorum which flowers in May and June and has attractive foliage in autumn and good scent.

More dainty and compact are the evergreen Japanese Azaleas which represent probably the highest proportion of Azaleas grown in the trade. This is because many of them are grown for sale as house plants, particularly around Christmas.

These varieties are not hardy though there are many which are. All of them have small foliage which sometimes colours in winter though they are evergreen. A typical specimen might reach a metre over 10 years making them suitable for planting in containers and even window boxes. They prefer more shade and moisture than the deciduous types and resent exposure to cold winds.

R. Luteum is a yellow flowered species that has a heady scent

Hinomayo create a striking impression in pink

Bright colours on this flower borders or along paths. Their dense growth will, over time, suppress weeds which makes them an excellent ground cover. They can be pruned back easily and recover well.

Among my favourites is the bright pink "Hinomayo" which looks wonderful in large drifts.

Evergreen Azaleas make good edging for Generally both types of Azalea make excellent companions for other acid or shade lovers especially magnolias, acers, host as and ferns. Some may be loud and brash, some dainty and beautiful but all Azaleas have some quality that is sure to recommend them. After all... family is family!

Join last voyage of ‘unsinkable ship’

He started off in Walsall. But theatrical director Thom Southerland has created one of the biggest theatrical productions of the year with Titanic. As a child, the daring and ambitious former pupil of Barr Beacon School used to watch productions at Birmingham's Hippodrome.

And on Monday he'll return to the Hippodrome for a week-long run with Titanic: The Musical, which ends on June 9.

In the final hour of April 14, 1912, the RMS Titanic, on her maiden voyage from Southampton to New York, collided with an iceberg and 'the unsinkable ship' slowly sank. It was one of the most tragic and infamous disasters of the 20th century. A total of 1,517 men, women and children lost their lives.

Based on real people aboard the most legendary ship in the world, Maury Yeston and Peter Stone's stunning musical focuses on their hopes and aspirations. Unaware of the fate that awaits them, the Third Class immigrants dream of a better life in America, the newly-enfranchised Second Class dream of achieving the lifestyles of the rich and famous, and the millionaire Barons of the First Class dream of their mastery lasting forever.

Thom, a former Express & Star paper boy who delivered newspapers to top up his pocket money, explains: "The musical started life in New York. A composer-lyricist had the idea to do a musical retelling of The Titanic – and most people thought that was the worst idea ever. How could we make a musical of one of the greatest tragedies of the 20th century?"

"But it is incredible. I heard the score on a CD. It had never been to the UK. The music is not about a ship. It's about the people who were on it."

The musical has been around the world during the past five years, growing each time.

"I can't be more happy than to think this show is touring the UK. It's our story and our legend; so many people that associate with it or are fascinated with it. It's because of the people and the stations and everything that people identify with."

The Hippodrome was where it all began for Thom. He was born in Walsall and went there as a kid to watch pantomimes and musicals. "This is the first time one of my shows will head to the Hippodrome. It wells me up when I think about it. I was born in Walsall, went to Barr Beacon School and we had a teacher, Mr Daniels, who would put on school plays. The teachers would let us act and that encouraged me so much."

He went to the theatre as well, in addition to classes for drama. Since then, his work has gone to America and Japan – but never Birmingham.

"When I was in Walsall, I did acting stuff. Then because I didn't think I was good enough to do that professionally, I desperately wanted to be part of it so I turned to directing."

"I remember going to see a show at the Hippodrome with my grandma and she'd say 'it's beautiful music' and I realised there was more than one way to do it. I went and studied as a director and I've just been very fortunate."

When Thom trained as a director, he was always interested in musical theatre. He wanted to redefine the genre, moving away from big, epic shows to ones where the story was at the heart of things.

"Musicals can get a bad rep

The greatest tragedy – Titanic: The Musical tells the tale

for being cheesy or old fashioned or not as worthy as plays that are in Stratford-upon-Avon. But I said there's no reason why you can't take a musical as seriously as the RSC."

So he started to put on his own shows in very, very small theatres, meeting the bills with his credit card. Instead of shows playing the London Palladium, he took them to 50-seat theatres and asked actors to play their own instruments.

The rest is history and Thom has become a hot property.

"With Titanic, there was these huge sets they tried to replicate what the titanic looked like. We don't need to see it anymore. So when we see the musical, we see things you don't know. It's all about telling the story. There's no need, like James Cameron did, to make bits up and make fake love affairs up. There was 2,500 people on the ship – you don't have to make it up because those people were all living, breathing human beings who had fascinating stories of their own."

"I always tell the actors when I'm working on it. For half of the show, you think you are going to live a new life in a new world. They were aboard the largest moving object in the world, which was also the most glamorous and luxurious. They were experiencing the happiest day of their life.

The music is not about a ship. It's about the people who were on it

"Everybody who worked there or who had bought a ticket were thrilled. The Titanic was monumental, the best in the world. They had all achieved."

"And then only four days later, they met their fate in the middle of the north Atlantic, through nobody's fault, in my humble opinion. Our job is to pay tribute to the people who sailed in her and understand what she was supposed to do and supposed to represent. Then to lay testament to the people who sailed in her. It's a disrespect to the people who lost their lives to make up fake love stories."

"Personally, I don't think you can comprehend the hugeness of the tragedy unless you bring it down to a parallel, the experience of one human being. Just as we can't understand the horrors of Nazi Germany but we can understand the diary of Anne Frank."

Andy Richardson

The Lady Boys of Bangkok

Oh boy! It's a saucy start to June at the Grand

DREAMBOYS and Lady Boys add up to a memorable series of one-off concerts at Wolverhampton Grand Theatre to get June off to a saucy start.

Joined by celebrity Jake Quickenden (from The X Factor, I'm A Celebrity... and Dancing On Ice), The Dreamboys strut their stuff on Wednesday (June 6).

Then cabaret favourites The Lady Boys of Bangkok bring their glamour to the Grand on June 7 with their Wonder Women Tour. The glitzy show features the Lady Boys' tributes to Cher, Diana Ross, Shirley Bassey, Lady Gaga and Wonder Woman herself.

Before those shows, more traditional old fashioned fun can be seen at the Lichfield Street venue for three performances from Monday to Tuesday in A Grand Music Hall. Hosted by the Grand's regular panto dame Ian Adams, the variety show features actor Keith Minshull, pianist Guy Rowland, illusionists Van Buren and Allyson, singer Julie Paton and, topping the bill, former Crackerjack and Good Morning Sunday host Don Maclean. There will be prizes for the best 'Good Old Days' costumes.

More nostalgia on Saturday (June 9) when the swing era is recalled with the music of The Glenn Miller Orchestra. The show also features the Moonlight Serenaders, the Swing Time Jivers and the Polka Dots with their tribute to the Andrews Sisters. That will certainly get you 'In The Mood' for some 40s favourites. For more details see grandtheatre.co.uk or call the box office on 01902 429212.

Her heart in Havana – her gig is in Brum

Cabello's Never Be The Same tour follows the immediate success of her self-titled debut album. She will headline Birmingham's O2 on Wednesday (June 6). The Cuban-American singer and songwriter rose to fame as a member of the girl group Fifth Harmony, which was formed during the second season of The X Factor US in 2012. She began to establish herself as a solo artist with the release of several collaborations, including Bad Things with Machine Gun Kelly, which reached number four on the US Billboard Hot 100.

After leaving Fifth Harmony in December 2016, she released the solo single Crying in the Club. Refocusing her sound to Latin-influenced music, her eponymous debut studio album Camila (2018) entered at number one on the US Billboard 200, supported by its lead single Havana, which topped the charts in several countries, including the UK and the US.

She said the success of Havana was empowering: "I think it really gave me a certain buzz of confidence. When you're a new solo artist, people are kind of scared to do stuff that's different because they just want to go with what's already being played on the radio. They want to stick to the formula.

"We didn't even release 'Havana' as a single because no one believed in it enough. They were like 'Oh that's a cool song but it's definitely not what you want as a single from your album.' ## It is going to be a hit, man, all over again

Agent 47 is put to the test in HITMAN: Definitive Edition (18), as Danish studio IO Interactive celebrates its 20th anniversary by bringing together the original award-winning video game with all of its previously released content and updates. It also includes new disguises for the stealthy assassin anti-hero which pay tribute to some of their other popular titles. The ICA agent, a Mark Strong look-alike, has exotic locations to choose from in Europe, Africa, America and the Far East as he hones his skills on missions to find and eliminate various targets. Warner Bros have taken on the title, which has a similar feel to their Batman franchise with emphasis on sneaking and surprise. An internet connection is needed as not all the add-ons are pre-loaded on the disc. It is available for Xbox One and PlayStation 4.

Acclaimed drama makes a welcome return to the screen

Following a successful six-part first series, the acclaimed school drama, returns.

Set in a fictional Yorkshire mill town, Ackley Bridge follows the trials and tribulations at a new academy made up from two formerly isolated comprehensives – one predominantly white and the other Asian.

Predictably, the educational experiment in multiculturalism hasn't always gone to plan, and neighbours and best friends soon found themselves on different sides of a racial divide.

"Do they think they can keep us quiet with a lick of paint and some cr*p about learning to live together?" the show's most entertaining if not likeable character Jordan memorably asked, after breaking into the school office.

As well as the whole education integration topic, there were plenty of other weighty topics covered in Ackley Bridge's first season.

Dubbed the new Waterloo Road and also drawing comparisons to Shameless when it first aired, it got off to a bang with a girl posting a nude selfie of her mother online, while other subjects tackled included religious prejudice, bullying and a major death.

The second series gets under way tonight as, in a bid to disguise her sexuality, Nas (Amy-Leigh Hickman) agrees to a sham engagement with Naveed (Gurjeet Singh) – who is also in the closet.

However, as she reels from the discovery of a family secret, Nas struggles to continue the lie and emotions run high at the family engagement dinner.

Headmistress Mandy (Jo Joyner) is still under pressure from wealthy school sponsor and Head of Academy Trust, Sadiq (Adil Ray).

Both the Year 7 intake and exam results have plummeted, forcing her to instigate a strict academic regime that causes uproar among staff and students alike.

English teacher Emma (Liz White) and Mandy's friendship is tested when they clash over the decision and Emma allows the students to protest.

Emma also has affairs of the heart to deal with, and on the day of Sami's (Arsher Ali) wedding, she struggles to hide her feelings for him.

Finally, Missy (Poppy Lee Friar) and Nas cause trouble for Jordan when they steal his drugs money. Will the cocky lad finally get his comeuppance?

Joining the cast for this new series is Kimberly Walsh.

The Girls Aloud singer, who has had small roles in Disney series The Lodge and Horrid Henry: The Movie, plays home-wrecking netball teacher Claire, who is also the ex-wife of Paul Nicholls' character Steve.

Walsh said: "It was so much fun appearing as Claire. It's a fantastic show with a brilliant cast. It was an honour to be part of it."

"Claire is quite different to other characters I've played in the past. She is sassy and strong and comes to blows a few times with Mandy, which was really fun to play."

Ackley Bridge, Wednesday, Channel 4, 8pm

Grenfell: The First 24 Hours

In the early hours of June 14, 2017, a blaze broke out at Grenfell Tower in west London, claiming 72 lives and injuring many others. ITV is marking the approach of the appalling tragedy's first anniversary with this moving documentary in which survivors recall the events of that terrible night, one that rocked not only the local community, but the entire country. The programme charts exactly what happened, from the first report of the fire to the London Fire Brigade getting it under control 24 hours later. Among those featured are residents Clarita Ghavini, who was found by a neighbour, and Sammy Wordy, who remains haunted by the screams of a woman trapped inside. There's also testimony from a firefighter who rescued nine people that night.

THURSDAY
Supershoppers
Channel 4, 8pm

New series. The consumer advice show returns with Anna Richardson and Sabrina Grant providing the lowdown on favourite brands and retailers, as well as tips on how to get the best deals. They begin with a look at retail giant John Lewis, investigating whether its famous price promise can always be trusted. There is also an undercover report from a major UK high-street chain catching sales staff giving shoppers suspect advice. Plus, reports on what goes into dairy-free milk drinks, supermarket value brands and which batteries last the longest.

FRIDAY
Cruising with Jane McDonald
Channel 5, 9pm

For some people, this entertaining travelogue used to be something of a guilty pleasure, but now it's won a Bafta (the first in Channel 5's history), there's no need to hide your love of Jane McDonald any longer. And for newcomers who are wondering what all the fuss is about, this two-part special is the perfect place to start. It finds Jane exploring Australia and New Zealand, beginning with an open-top bus tour of Sydney and a trip to the Opera House, where she finds herself centre stage. Then it's on to Tasmania, where the presenter meets the staff and furry inhabitants of a wildlife sanctuary, before she heads to New Zealand and Milford Sound, which lives up to its billing as the wettest place on Earth.

Star quality Ivy really grows on you

LAVISH doesn't come close. The new 155-seat, three-floor, The Ivy restaurant at Birmingham's Temple Row, which opened in April, is the acme of style.

Created by the group behind the world-famous celebrity haunt of the same name in London, it's been the most eagerly-anticipated restaurant opening in the Second City this year.

Leather banquettes in a dreamy shade of burnt orange mix with plenty of green palates and stunning Art Deco glass, lights and artwork to create a venue that's part-restaurant, part-art-installation. It is, in a word, stunning.

Oozing wow and housed in the former Louis Vuitton boutique, The Ivy has the same sort of luxury that the designer label provided, though without prohibitive prices. Sophisticated but relaxed, classy but informal, it's a real Bobby Dazzler that offers customers the sort of food that people like to eat – rather than pretentious dishes designed to impress.

COMFORT

And so, for instance, the menu features such brilliant comfort food as The Ivy shepherd's pie – it's on my list for my next visit.

Prices are reasonable. Diners expecting to shell out the price of a top-class meal in London, will be surprised to find they can fork out just £21 for a three-course set menu. Expect accessible, brasserie-style eating with great value – but with added glitz and glamour.

With such glamour on every level, it's important that the staff provide service that sizzles. And, happily, they do. The venue offers an all-encompassing menu, serving British classics from dawn until dusk, including breakfast, elevenses, weekend brunch, lunch, afternoon tea, light snacks, dinner and cocktails.

Catch it if you can – the rare sesame-coated tuna

Convivial dining – in beautiful surroundings

My partner and I ate on the second floor, taking a quiet corner seat where we had a view across part of the city and the rest of the dining area. It was stunning. As, indeed, was the food. She started with a tempura prawn number. It was delightful.

My starter was equally accomplished and offered dizzying flavour. A warm crispy duck salad.

Our mains were equally accomplished. She ate a whole grilled lobster with garlic and parsley butter, watercress and thick cut chips. My main was another classic; a seared Yellowfin tuna salad.

We skipped dessert. Though the classic selection featuring crème brûlée and apple tart fine all read well, we'd got a date with a rock star on the other side of town and didn't want to be late. The Ivy did, however, do more than enough to persuade us to return. Classic dishes, plenty of choice, good skills from the kitchen, engaging service and decent prices were duly noted – though, in truth, it's the venue itself that has star quality.

The Ivy, in London, is one of Britain's great gastronomic institutions and looking to replicate the Covent Garden joint in Birmingham was no easy task.

The original has a near 100-year history and welcomed such guests as Sir Laurence Olivier and Sir John Gielgud, Benedict Cumberbatch, Tom Cruise, Nicole Kidman, Madonna, David and Victoria Beckham, Angelina Jolie, Dame Judi Dench, Sir Ian McKellen and James McAvoy.

The Birmingham one might not feature a cast quite so starry. Nonetheless, those behind the impressive launch can tick the box reading: Mission Accomplished. For The Ivy Birmingham is hands down the best new launch in the city in recent years.

Astra gets Euro 6D-Temp powertrains

By James Parker

Vauxhall continues its move to Euro 6d-TEMP with two new engines joining its award-winning Astra range, a powerful 1.6-litre Turbo (200PS) petrol and a 1.6-litre CDTi (136PS) diesel unit. The strict Euro 6d-TEMP emissions standard, which includes real driving emissions measured on public roads, comes into force for new registrations in September 2019.

Producing 200PS and 300Nm, the 1.6-litre petrol engine with six-speed manual or automatic transmissions can power the Astra to a maximum speed of 146mph and achieve 0-60mph in just 7.3 seconds. Fuel economy is 43.5mpg (combined) and CO2 emissions are 151g/km. In order to reduce particulate emissions as much as possible, the 1.6-litre direct injection petrol engine features a close-coupled Gasoline Particulate Filter (GPF) for optimum regeneration (i.e. oxidation of the particles that accumulate in the filter).

With 320Nm of torque, the first Euro 6d-TEMP diesel engine to be introduced to the Astra range is the 1.6-litre CDTi (136PS), available with either manual or automatic transmission. It achieves combined fuel economy from 64.2mpg and CO2 emissions from 116g/km.

The engine is equipped with Selective Catalytic Reduction (SCR) technology for further reduction of nitrogen oxide emissions. In the SCR process, AdBlue is injected into the exhaust gas. The solution decomposes into ammonia, which is then stored on a catalyst substrate. Nitrogen oxide enters the catalyst in the exhaust gas, and is then selectively reduced to nitrogen and water.

The Astra is light, frugal and agile

Order banks are open now for 1.6-litre Turbo (200PS) petrol in both Hatch and Sports Tourer body styles. The 1.6-litre CDTi (136PS) is available to order now in Hatch with the Sports Tourer body style available soon after. Prices start from £20,595 on-the-road.

The rapid transition to Euro 6d-TEMP compliancy is part of Vauxhall's strategy to become a leader in vehicle emissions reduction. The next steps toward this goal are the introduction of four electrified models by 2020, including the next generation Corsa, which will also be available as a fully electric vehicle, and the Grandland X as the first plug-in hybrid from Vauxhall. By 2024 Vauxhall will become fully electrified, offering a hybrid or a battery electric version of every passenger car model.

The Astra, voted European Car of the Year in 2016, is one of the bestselling models in the Vauxhall portfolio. Light, frugal and agile, the Astra Hatch and Sports Tourer are built at Vauxhall's manufacturing plant in Ellesmere

The Astra, voted European Car of the Year in 2016, is one of the bestselling models in the Vauxhall portfolio

Port, Cheshire. Despite compact exterior dimensions, occupants in the Astra enjoy particularly generous legroom – especially in the rear. The Sports Tourer can also carry up to 1,630 litres of luggage and the extensive load area is easy to access thanks to the optional power tailgate, which can be opened and shut with a simple kicking motion under the bumper.

In addition to featuring a host of driver assistance systems such as Forward Collision Alert with Automatic Emergency Braking and Lane Departure Warning with Lane Keep Assist, the Astra is the first car in its class to be made available with full LED matrix headlamps. IntelliLux LED Matrix Lighting on the Astra consists of 16 LED segments – eight on each side of the vehicle – that automatically and constantly adapt the length and distribution of the light beam to every situation, without glare for oncoming traffic.

Equipment for the Astra also includes infotainment systems that can be operated by touch-screen, remote controls on the steering wheel and voice recognition. They additionally allow operation of suitably-equipped smartphones via the phone's voice-control system, such as Siri or Google, and they are compatible with both Apple CarPlay and Android Auto.

Suzuki's new Swift Sport supermini

Finance offers for new Suzuki Sport

Suzuki has announced finance offers for June for the new Swift Sport and available in conjunction with the June launch customer saving price of £16,499. Both PCP and HP schemes are available.

A £750 Finance Deposit Allowance (FDA) is offered for the launch month and with no further customer deposit required. If a PCP (Personal Contract Purchase) is chosen, payments are £258 per month based on a 49 month agreement with a final optional payment of £5,943 to keep the car.

Alternatively, should a customer prefer to place a deposit of £2,530 plus the £750 Finance allowance from Suzuki then the PCP monthly payments will reduce to £199 per month, again based on a 49 month agreement and with a final optional payment of £5,943. Both agreements have a representative APR of 5.9 per cent and are based on 8,000 miles per annum.

For customers who would prefer a Hire Purchase arrangement, the £750 allowance also applies and with no further deposit required. Monthly payments are £368 and the agreement duration is 48 months. Payments can reduce to £299 per month if a customer chooses to place a deposit of £2,954, again with a representative APR of 5.9 per cent.

Standard equipment for the new Sport is comprehensive and includes unique sport interior trim with semi bucket seats and red accents to the dashboard and console areas, six airbags, auto air conditioning, satellite navigation, leather steering wheel, privacy glass, DAB radio with Bluetooth and six speakers, LED daytime running lights, 17-inch wheels, body coloured door mirrors and four electric windows.

Distinctive looks, well-priced and good blend of performance and economy

By John Griffiths

Mitsubishi's newest model has a double-barrelled name – the Eclipse Cross.

That's probably to distinguish this latest crossover from the previous Eclipse, a sports car. But it may also signal the company's hopes that it will eclipse its many rivals in the most competitive area of the car market.

It will certainly have an impact. Its price, on-road dynamics and a proven all-wheel drive system for which Mitsubishi is renowned set it apart from many of its rivals.

Prices start from £21,275 (front wheel drive only) to £27,900 for the top spec model with four wheel drive and an automatic transmission. In terms of size it sits between the companies smaller ASX and the flagship Outlander.

At present the only engine option is a 1.5 litre petrol unit, but a 2.2 litre turbo diesel will follow.

The new petrol motor is efficient, particular in terms of a car of this size. With 163bhp, it whisks the Eclipse Cross to 62mph in under ten seconds and its official (laboratory tested) fuel average if 40.4mpg. As we know, those lab test figures aren't replicated in real world driving but I was pleasantly surprised by the auto transmission test car's ability to consistently record 35mpg (much of it over the challenging roads of the Peak District).

That was achieved while mainly using 'Eco' mode which does impact on performance by holding on to the higher ratios and calming throttle response. Switch off the Eco button, though, and the car reveals its sportier side. You can override your economical ambitions temporarily (for a nice quick overtake, for example) by using the kickdown facility along with manual downchanges using the paddles behind the steering wheel.

Eco tends to be the quieter mode, too, with revs rarely exceeding 2,000rpm although even when pushed harder the Eclipse Cross isn't noisy – the petrol engine is sewing machine smooth and the aerodynamics surprisingly slippery for an SUV, meaning there's little wind noise.

Mitsubishi designed the stiff chassis and suspension for a more rewarding and dynamic on-road drive, with none of the harshness and body roll sometimes found on an off-road capable car. That, of course, means a more relaxed driving experience and comfortable ride – as good if not better than some typical saloon cars. If you should venture off-road (or get caught up in snow) a simple press of a centre console button engages the all-wheel drive system. The Eclipse Cross looks big: it's tall and comes with the high 'hip height' for easy access and command seating position for excellent visibility. But it's also sleeker, less chunky than some competitors with a relatively aerodynamic front and a distinctive rear – you certainly won't miss it at night with the rear lighting cluster which wraps around the rear spoiler. This bisects the rear window, but without noticeably detracting from your view in the mirror.

The interior of the top spec Eclipse Cross 4 test car has a premium feel, with its leather-clad sports style seats (electrically adjustable) and multi-function steering wheel.

Rear seat passengers do particularly well, as you can increase the already generous legroom by sliding the 'bench' backwards and a multi-position tilt system which allows them to really stretch out and relax.

Boot space is 448 litres, but since the rear seats also have a 60:40 split/fold facility you also have the opportunity to juggle between the needs of passengers and cargo.

Driver aids include a new and up-to-the minute touch screen controller in the centre of the dash, with smartphone and bluetooth compatability, as well as controlling, amongst other things, the audi system,

There's also a head-up display which projects information such as speed, adaptive cruise control, speed limiter and lane departure warning and cameras and short range lasers provide help with parking in tight spots as well as blind spot and forward collision mitigation warnings.

The Eclipse Cross is competitively priced and offers more room in the cabin than many of its rivals, while outside its styling is distinctive and the new 1.5 litre petrol engine offers a good blend of performance and economy.

Mitsubishi's name is inextricably linked to two diverse sectors of the car market – performance models such as the AWD Evo and more traditional SUVs like the hard-working Shogun. The more you delve into the engineering of the Eclipse Cross, the more you can see this how this experience is combined in the new car with its on-road dynamics, off-road capability (if you choose an AWD version), with styling and technology which are right up to the minute.

Rest well before driving long distances

Drivers need to be properly rested before setting off on long journeys, says breakdown and road safety organisation GEM Motoring Assist. The advice comes as families from across the UK are planning their summer holiday journeys lasting hours or even days.

Being tired when you're driving raises the risk of a collision, because you're less aware of what's happening around you. Your ability to react is impaired if a risky situation develops.

That's why fatigue can be a factor in up to 20% of all road collisions, and up to 25% of fatal and serious crashes.

GEM road safety officer Neil Worth says: "We want you to ensure your holiday starts the moment you close the front door and set off, but safety has to come first. If you're on a long road journey, make sure you're properly rested before you set out, and build in regular breaks on long journeys to help stay fresh, observant and aware."

"This is particularly important if you've changed your routine and are driving early or late – or even through the night – to avoid the queues."

"A fatigue-related crash is around 50 per cent more likely to result in death or serious injury, simply because a driver who has fallen asleep at the wheel will be unable to reduce speed or change direction to avoid a collision. The consequences can be devastating."

Neil Worth warns of the tell-tale signs of driver fatigue. "There are many recognisable warning signs before you actually nod off at the wheel. These include difficulty focusing on the driving task, fidgeting and frequent yawning and rubbing. As fatigue worsens, it will be increasingly difficult to focus on driving. Accompanying this could be drifting to the left or right and an inability to maintain a constant speed."

Being tired when you're driving raises the risk of a collision

GEM offers a few simple tips for drivers to reduce the risk of a fatigue-related collision:

- Get a good night's sleep before you drive a long journey.
- Build in time to reach your destination (or your night-stop) without rushing. Remove time pressures wherever possible.
- On long journeys, take a break of at least 15 minutes after every two hours or 100 miles. Get out of the car, do some exercise, stretch or walk. If necessary, have a caffeine drink or two to boost your alertness.

● If you are driving all day, schedule a proper hour-long break in the middle of the day, as this serves to split the day's driving into two shorter and more manageable halves.

● Avoid driving alone for long distances if possible. Share the driving, and support each other by watching for any signs of fatigue.

● Don't press on into the night. Avoid driving at times when you would be asleep.

GEM's video on understanding dangers of fatigue is available at www.motoringassist.com/fatigue

"It is really difficult to win the national two years ago so this really is a fantastic achievement."

A TALENTED handball team is celebrating after being crowned national champions for the second successive year.

Cannock Olympia reclaimed their under-19s national handball title after beating Stroud at the Derby Arena.

The victory is the latest in a long line of success for the team which is coached by Maria Moore.

Over the past few years, the Olympia under-19s team have reached 10 national finals, winning eight of them.

Olivia Gonsalves, Athalia Imbanga, Ellie Smith, Annie Hicklin and Mia Williams all played starring roles in their latest triumph – with Imbanga netting in the final 20 seconds to secure the 24-23 win over Stroud.

And club chairman Nenad 'Pop' Popovic believes the girls' success will never be repeated.

Special

"It is really difficult to win the national two years ago so this really is a fantastic achievement," he said. "The success of this team will never be repeated."

"It is special because all the girls attend Cardinal Griffin Catholic College except for one who is from Sutton Coldfield.

"They have now played in 10 national finals, winning eight of them and have only ever lost one game in their age category."

"The girls are a credit to Cannock and the area." Following the performance at the Derby Arena,

The Olympia team celebrate their success, which follows last year's win

Gonsalves was crowned Most Value Player for the second successive year. And while she is too old to play for the team next year, Popovic isn't ruling out a hat-trick of national titles.

"All but three of the girls are eligible to play for the under-19s next year," he added.

"Some of them are going off to play in the senior for Manchester Hawks.

"It could be a hat-trick of victories but it is going to be very difficult."

"Gonsalves was crowned MVP but she can't play next year because she is too old by three days which she isn't happy about."

"But this is a fantastic team full of talented players so they will give it everything."

Meanwhile, Popovic thanked team sponsor Cameron Homes for the role they have played in the team's success.

"We have all benefited from the support of Cameron Homes who are drivers behind girls' handball in the area," he added.

"Because of all the support they have given us we have been able to grow and attract girls from further afield. We have now got a host of talented youngsters coming through the ranks and they'll ensure the club is successful for many years."

RAF runners fly to a record relay run

RUNNERS have smashed a relay world record by more than four hours at RAF Cosford. The challenge saw 100 members of the RAF clock up consecutive 10 kilometre runs on the athletics track at the air force base in 64 hours, 36 minutes and 22 seconds.

The previous record was set in Palos Heights in Illinois, in June, 2015 at 69 hours, six minutes and 52 seconds.

Servicemen and women are now waiting with bated breath for the Guinness World Record adjudicators to verify their attempt. Runners from air force bases across the UK descended on Shropshire for the attempt.

The final 10k leg was run by senior aircraftsman Michael Kallenberg, the venture's chief organiser. He said: "It has been a long three or four days, but we're all delighted that we've broken the record. I was quite lucky doing the final leg, I got to enjoy it and lap it up as it were."

"I just thought, with it being the 100th anniversary of the RAF, it would be nice to set a new world record in celebration."

Howzat! New cricket pitches now on way

Health

Artificial cricket wickets are also set for East Park, Claregate Playing Fields, Fowlers Park, Newbridge Playing Fields, King George V Playing Fields in Wednesfield, Goodyear park off the Stafford Road and Ward Street in Bilston.

Back in best shape for this fight – Davis

BIRMINGHAM super bantamweight, Sean 'Showtime' Davis, is looking forward to his ring return. Davis, is set to fight on BCB Promotions Emerging Stars card on Saturday, June 9.

The Brummie boxer has been in a number of high profile bouts, including fights for the WBC International Super Bantamweight Title and BBBofC British Super Bantamweight Title, and is looking forward to stepping back in the squared circle.

"I am feeling great and I am back in the best shape possible," he told www.bcb-promotions.com. "It has been a long time since my last fight and I am really happy to get back in the ring. The work rate for me has always been very high but I seemed to have found a new level of fitness."

Davis made the difficult decision to move trainers from Peter Christie to Shaun Cogan earlier this year. It was a tough call to make for the likeable 26 year-old, having been with Christie since childhood. However, he is enjoying life under his new mentor.

Masterful season for chess club

THE chess season has now come to an end with the members of Stourbridge Chess Club holding their AGM.

The following awards were made: The President's Cup, awarded for services to the club, was presented to Dave Scriven (13th consecutive year); The Denis Ferniough Trophy, awarded for most improved player, was presented to Joe Bombardini. Joe was new to chess and has made rapid progress; The Sydney Willets Trophy, awarded to the best club player, was presented to Zibby Koncki for his fighting style and excellent results on board one.

This has been a very good season for the Stourbridge first team. They won the Terrill trophy and division 2 of the Wolverhampton and district chess league.

The club's summer tournament starts on Wednesday, June 6, 7:30pm at the Stourbridge Institute. It is a five round tournament using the Swiss pairing system. This means that everyone has the opportunity to play in all five rounds and will be paired against an opponent with the same score. The second round of the tournament will be held on June 20 with remaining rounds once a fortnight.

Stourbridge players Eric Horwill, Paul Sharratt, Tony Shaw, Sam Bradley, Hossam Aboushady, Richard Wilkinson, Jeremy Humphries and Joe Bombardini represented Worcestershire in the Midlands county team and are now through to the national semi finals after beating Hampshire.

Wright hits 42 but Himley must settle for a losing draw

HIMLEY'S losing draw at Bridgnorth sees them 13 points behind Shifnal and Tamworth in the Birmingham League Division One, while Halesowen's win at home to Bromsgrove leaves their Worcs neighbours in the bottom three.

Stourbridge are four points behind following a five-wicket win at neighbours and old rivals Old Hill. Stourbridge dismissed the home side for 115 with Ravi Nagra hitting 32 for Old Hill, Dan Such taking 6-20 in 13.4 overs. Jitesh Jivan-Patel picked up 3-35 for Stourbridge. Marvarick Perry scored a breezy unbeaten 37 for Stourbridge who raced to victory after a slow start.

Himley skipper Greg Wright hit 42 in his side's innings of 146-9 at Bridgnorth but the home side's response was cut short by 20 overs due to rain. Bridgnorth finished on 117-9. Despite three wickets apiece for Stuart Wedge, Chris Boroughs and Jamie Turner, a faster run-rate gave Bridgnorth the winning draw.

A superb innings of 145 in 165 balls from Ed Kilbee eased Halesowen to an imposing 265-9 against Bromsgrove who were dismissed for 187.

Lions coach hits out over Osama decision

LIONS Boxing Club coach Kevin Dillon is hoping talented teenager Osama Mohamed gets another shot at representing England after a controversial end to his European Schoolboy title hopes.

The 14-year-old from Dudley saw his championship bid ended at the quarter-final stage by Russian Aleksei Zheleznikov.

But having watched a stream of the fight from Bulgaria, Dillon believes the youngster was 'robbed' of a place in the last four.

"It was a terrible decision," said Dillon. "Micky

Driscoll, one of the England coaches, said Osama won every round.

"He couldn't believe the decision, even the crowd booed when it was announced.

"He was robbed. Osama had been on the front foot and pretty much dominated all three rounds.

"There are no grounds for appeal and I think that is something that needs to be looked at.

"I'm really gutted for Osama because he had done so well and worked really hard to get this opportunity.

"But it has been a great experience for him, going abroad and listening to other coaches.

"He will have learned a lot from it and everyone at the club are very proud of him.

"He has made a good impression with the England coaches and hopefully this won't be the last time he is involved with them.

Mohamed will be looking to further enhance his reputation when he forms part of a four-strong team from Lions that will take part in the Monkstown Cup in Ireland next month.

CRADLEY BOOST TROPHY HOPES

CRADLEY revived their National Trophy hopes by securing maximum points from their 57-32 win at Buxton.

Sunday's victory moved the Motor Market Heathens back level with group leaders Coventry as they bounced back from the previous Monday's defeat by the Bees.

Despite only being with four of their own riders, the Heathens took advantage of an under-strength Hitmen side whose problems grew as the meeting progressed. Already without broken ankle victim Connor Coles, heat-leader David Wallinger then pulled out of the fixture in the build-up while reserve Lewis Whitmore was withdrawn after heat eight with an arm injury.

Heathens got their noses in front as early as heat two when Jason Edwards and local lad James Chattin combined for a 4-2 in the re-run after Whitmore had been disqualified for the hosts after sliding off in the initial staging. Kyle Bickley gated in the third and new signing Chris Widman got by Sam Woolley for a second successive 4-2. Alfie Bowtell and Edwards got the better of inexperienced Kieran Douglas and established an early eight-point lead.

The Derbyshire outfit hit back with a maximum in the next race as Ben Wilson made it two race wins out of two while Heathens guest Joe Lawlor couldn't find a way past skipper Tom Woolley.

Heathens stamped their authority on the fixture as Bickley and Widman bagged a 5-1 in the seventh before Bowtell and Edwards won a 5-0 after lapping Sam Woolley who had remounted after falling. That opened up a 13-point lead for the Heathens who took the next four race wins.

Heat 12 saw Bickley maintain his unbeaten start as and the Heathens rounded off in style with one final 5-1 as Bickley tucked in for a paid maximum behind Bowtell.

Manager Will Pottinger said: "It was important to get back to winning ways and sets us up nicely for the return at Monmore."
